BATTLE RAGES IN NUREMBERG

Bolshevik Move Spreads in Bavaria; Berlin Is Making Ready to Declare War on Latest Soviet Government

New Republic Proclaimed in Ancient City; Industrial Districts Scenes of Disorder—Hungarian Revolt Held

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LONDON, Feb. 24.—Spartan riots have broken out in Nuremberg, where the prisons have been opened and street fighting is in progress, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen.

Police on both sides of the bay are on the lookout for a burglar who was shot while attempting to rob the home of Mrs. Margaret Armstrong, 1555 Sacramento street, San Francisco, early this morning.

According to the report made by Mrs. Armstrong, she heard some one at the front door shortly after 5 a. m. Going into her son's room, upstairs, she obtained a revolver and standing at the head of the stairs she turned on the hall light.

She saw a burglar standing in the hall, blood stains and a cry of pain she believes that one of the bullets took away the burglar's life.

Clemenceau Is Believed Out of Danger

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Premier Clemenceau, shot by an assassin Wednesday, was believed to be out of danger, the official bulletin issued today said.

Premier Clemenceau is continuing to improve. He spent a restless night, however, owing to his forced inactivity yesterday. His temperature is 36.6 centigrade (97.88 Fahrenheit).

The doctors expressed themselves as satisfied that M. Clemenceau was out of danger.

Asked concerning the date on which it was probable the premier would be allowed to leave his home, the doctors said:

"Probably Thursday, if the premier follows implicitly the instructions regarding the necessity of absolute rest."

Arrest Auditor for Paymaster Holdup

EVERETT, Mass., Feb. 24.—Charles S. Whitmore, general auditor for the General Electric Company, was arrested today charged with conspiring in connection with the attack on Frank R. Brown, assistant paymaster at the local plant of the company, who was held up December 20 and robbed of the weekly payroll amounting to $12,000.

Court-martial Bill Is Passed by Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The Senate today passed the House bill amending the articles of war so as to authorize army commanding officers in the field or territorial departments or divisions to mitigate or remit sentences imposed by courts-martial. Under the present law this can be done only by the President.

War Objectors Refuse Non-Combatant Salary

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Nearly all the conscientious objectors recently released by the War Relocation Authority have returned the money paid them on discharge, holding that the stipend which prevented them from fighting also forbade the acceptance of pay for non-combatant service which relieved a fighter of the front.

First Aerial Police Patrol Makes Trip

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 24.—The first police patrol plane arrived here today carrying a policeman from Dayton, Ohio, to arrest and take back to Dayton Robert Temple, wanted there on a charge of embezzlement. The first aerial "black marshal" carried by P. D. Dennis, Dayton police inspector, and J. L. Wheaton, pilot.

$2,000,000 Added to Soldiers' Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The House this afternoon voted a $2,000,000 increase to the $30,000,000 already appropriated for vocational education of disabled soldiers and sailors.

German Bolsheviks Executed

BERLIN, Feb. 23, via London. Feb. 24.—Many of the German soldiers who fell into the hands of the Spartacists in the fighting around Berlin in the Ruhr coal fields (Westphalia), were shot, according to a despatch from that city today.

LEWIS SCORES OPONENTS OF WORLD LEAGUE

Democratic Whip in Senate Says Attacks on Wilson's Plans Are Based on False Fears; Prejudice Designed

Illinois Statesman Declares League of Nations Will Not Contravene Washington's Advice or Monroe Doctrine

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Speaking in the Senate today in support of the proposed League of Nations, Senator Lewis of Illinois, Democratic whip, declared the league would not contravene the advice of Washington or the Monroe doctrine, and loudly attacked the personal and political antagonism to President Wilson by behind the opposition in Congress.

Senator Lewis responded specifically to remarks by Senators Borah of Idaho, Republican, and Reed of Missouri, Democrat. His address marked resumption of Senate discussion of the league with prospects of daily speeches until adjournment of Congress a week from tomorrow.

SAYS ATTACKS ARE BASED ON FALSE FEARS. Attacks upon the league, Senator Lewis asserted, were based on false fears and designed to awaken prejudice. Demanding that opponents present their plan for world peace, he asked:

"Have you any? Is there only the voice of ventriloquism on an empty stage—merely that it is proposed by Wilson?"

"The country is not deceived. It will understand—and when it does understand, it will reject the personal prejudices, their representatives would continue to consign the nation's capital to the misery of cripples—to the agony of sightless men and order the destruction of their young lives forever, these 'Christian mothers and patriotic fathers' will cry down on their heads all the curse of heaven."

Woodrow Wilson was a Roman Catholic, charged by a Cicero to surrender his land to the enemy of his country and "fast a modern Aaron Burr, they could not have any influence on those who they have been by the leaders of the opposition to the league of nations."

CALLS IT ANTIMONY TO WILSON'S SUCCESS. "Nothing so proved the animosity to Wilson's success in any design as the refusal to grant his request, called as he sailed for America, to postpone discussions of the constitution of the league until he could arrive and explain the circumstances of his formation. That there would be months after Wilson returns to Paris for the conclusion of the work in which discussion of every nature could be had, no grounds in those who preferred to exhibit everywhere their defiance of any request he might make."

"The reasons urged as a justification for the assault have, I declare, no grounds in the contents of the document."

"It is said that the document violates our policy against alliances with foreign governments as opposed by Washington."

"I answer that the document prevents what Washington opposed, partial alliances with America with any foreign country were her statesman provided for Lewis added: 'It requires two-thirds of all to permit any war or peace action with Europe.'"

"The constitution of the league prohibits the possibility of political alliances with any European power by balancing against the European, the Asiatic, Japan and all South America."

"The army and navy of the United States are not in the hands of Lewis added: 'In the charter by words, as of a kind that she shall by her situation and peculiar geography personally adopt and personally control.'"

MONROE DOCTRINE. Of the charge that the league would violate the Monroe doctrine, Lewis said:

"It is to prevent this very assumption, that section 10 of the charter pledges all of the governments in the league to resist aggression by any one state or government with Europe."

"We ask why this false fear is heralded by senators? The cry is to awaken prejudice, not to convince by the truth of a situation."

In reply to assertions by Senators Borah and Reed that the United States would be outvoted, particularly by England, with her colonies included, Lewis said:

"There are eleven republics of America with eleven votes. Then if all Britain's colonies each have a vote, the United States with Central and South America outvotes the Europeans on any American policy 9 to 5—assuming only the larger republics are admitted to the council."

Boston Police Arrest Score of Suffragists

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—Twenty-five suffragists were arrested in front of the official reviewing stand before the state house here today just before President Wilson was due to pass.

They had assembled with the announced intention of staging a "demonstration" and refused to move away when ordered to do so by Captain Fitzgerald of the local police.

The women were carrying banners. Among other inscriptions were: "Mr. Wilson, what are you going to do for woman suffrage?" and "Mr. President, you have the necessary vote."

Among those arrested were Mrs. H. E. Russian, Detroit, and Miss Betty Cram, Portland, Oregon.

The others were New England women.

PACIFIC COAST METAL STRIKE VOTED APRIL 1

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 24.—Delegates to the Pacific Coast convention of Metal Trades Councils voted today for a coast-wide strike April 1, it was officially announced this afternoon.

This action was taken by the conference as the best procedure to insure a new and higher wage scale following the expiration of the Macy board award, March 31.

The strike call has no effect on the present strike of 25,000 metal trades workers in Seattle, who are challenging the present Macy scale, nor does it affect the San Francisco situation.

The delegates to the conference said they requested the action as a preliminary to a satisfactory adjustment of the wage situation following the Macy award expiration and that, in their opinion, a solution will be reached by the date set for the coast-wide walkout.

HALF PER CENT ALCOHOL MADE DRY LAW BASIS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Any malt of vinous fluid containing more than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol is liquor, as defined under the war-time prohibition bill reported to the House today by the House Judiciary committee.

Any "room, house, building, boat, vehicle or structure" where liquor is manufactured or kept for sale is declared a "public nuisance" and may be dealt with as such by the commissioner of internal revenue.

The bill places the enforcement of prohibition on the internal revenue commission.

Any one convicted of the manufacture or sale of liquor is subject to a fine of not less than $200 nor more than $1,000, or imprisonment of not less than thirty days nor more than one year.

The owner of the property, if he has knowledge of unlawful acts in his building, is subject to a fine, the property may be sold to pay such fine.

ARMY DEATHS DURING WAR TOTAL 107,444

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Deaths during the war in the American expeditionary forces in Europe are declared a "public nuisance" and may be dealt with as such by the commissioner of internal revenue.

The total was 107,444. Of these 20,829 resulted from disease, 48,768 from injuries received in battle and 33,547 from all other causes.

Revenue Bill to Be Signed Tomorrow

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—President Wilson will sign the new revenue bill tomorrow. It is in the commission at the White House, according to a despatch from the Treasury department when he reaches Washington.

Wilson in Speech Challenges World League Critics; Armed Man Tries to See President; Is Arrested

24 ARRESTS FOIL PLOT TO KILL WILSON

Capture of 14 Spaniards in New York for Participation in Alleged I. W. W. Conspiracy Followed by Raid

Two Men Said to Have Been Chosen to Go to Boston and Assassinate the President on His Arrival; Suspects Held

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Federal officials and secret service men today were examining the personal effects and papers of fourteen Spaniards arrested here yesterday on suspicion that two of their number were concerned in a plot to attempt to take the life of President Wilson on his landing at Boston.

While "definite information" was lacking, the authorities admitted that the raids on the Spaniards, I. W. W. headquarters here were prompted by report that two Philadelphia Spaniards were on their way to Boston as agents in the alleged plot. These two men were among the fourteen arrested.

Pending this investigation, the prisoners are being held without bail on a general charge of violating the espionage act, based on the fact that they were carrying in their possession literature. The fourteen Spaniards were taken from their cells at police headquarters today and placed in a room at the Hotel Croton.

The police said that no weapons were found on any of the men.

LEADER OF SPANISH I. W. W.'S IS AMONG ARRESTED. PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—Ten men were arrested here early today, charged with participating in the New York plot to assassinate President Wilson. The prisoners taken were rounded up shortly after the raid by the police in New York.

Parades, a Cuban, said to be the leader of the Spanish I. W. W., Pasquale Surro, Jose Gomez, Jose Rigo, Juan Marquez, Olliver Plana, Juan de la Cruz, Juan J. Rodriguez, Jose Gonzales and Jose Antonio Pena. All are Spaniards and nine of them are aliens.

Secret service men here attach more importance to the arrest in New York of two Philadelphia Spaniards, Florio Medina Vella and Elario Orestes, than to the roundup of some of the leaders. All the ten in the ten Spaniards in this city were taken to the New York city hall.

It was learned that two men were being held in New York at which some of the leaders, it is said, dropped a hint of the assassination plot. The agent learned that two men were being held in New York at which some of the leaders, it is said, dropped a hint of the assassination plot.

An agent of the Department of Justice learned by chance about two weeks ago of a meeting of the arrested here, when the New York city hall was raided.

Following advice from New York, San Francisco police and federal authorities last night secured local headquarters in the hope of securing evidence that would have a bearing upon the reported conspiracy against President Wilson. While the matter was left in the hands of the local police, it was understood that police headquarters arrests might be expected.

Wilson's Ship Is Nearly Beached

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—The steamer George Washington on which the President and his party made the voyage from Brest, dropped anchor off quarantine shortly after dark last night.

Sunday afternoon it was suddenly discovered that the steamer, running through a dense fog, was headed directly for an island off Cape Ann. The destroyer Harding, running ahead as a guard ship, discovered the danger and gave a warning signal. Engines were reversed and the ship was stopped a thousand yards from shore in deep water.

A short distance off Boston harbor the George Washington was met by an escort of eight submarines. The submarines were provided to quarantine and the presidential party remained on board overnight.

Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the President, spent the night aboard the George Washington. When President Wilson and came ashore today with the presidential party.

The troops on the George Washington were not forgotten. Delegate from the Hotel Croton, Y. M. C. A. Knights of Columbus and Jewish Welfare Board, welcomed the soldiers and distributed doughnuts, coffee, chewing gum, cigarettes, stationery and newspapers.

ADDRESS BY THE PRESIDENT

MECHANICS' HALL, Boston, Feb. 24.—President Wilson arrived at Mechanics' Hall at 2:30 o'clock. As his party reached the outer door a battery at the rear of the hall fired a presidential salute of twenty-one guns. Inside the hall the bank struck up "Hail to the Chief."

The preliminaries were brief. John McCormick sang "The Star-Spangled Banner," and the President applauded. Mayor Peters welcomed the guest in the name of the city and Governor Coolidge extended the greetings of the commonwealth.

The President in a speech dealing with affairs in Europe invited their critics of the league of nations plan to "test the sentiment of America." The President said:

Governor Coolidge, Mr. Mayor, fellow citizens: I wonder if you are half as glad to see me as I am to see you. (Applause.)

(A voice: "You bet.") It means my heart to see a great body of my fellow citizens again, because in some respects during the recent weeks I have been very lonely, indeed, without your comradeship and counsel. I have tried every step of the work which fell to me to recall what I was sure would be your counsel with regard to the great matters which were under consideration.

I do not want you to think I have not been appreciative of the extraordinarily generous reception which was given to me on the other side, in saying that it makes me very happy to get home again. I do not mean to say that I was not very deeply touched by the cries that came from the great crowds on the other side. But I want to say in all honesty that I felt them to be a call of greeting to you, rather than to me.

THEIR PRIDE IN REPRESENTING U. S. I did not feel that the greeting was personal in any sense. I heard the overwhelming pride of being your representative, and of receiving the plaudits of men everywhere who felt that your heart was with theirs in the case of this country.

There was no mistaking the tone in the voices of those great crowds. It was not a tone of mere greeting. It was a tone of more generous welcome; it was the calling of comrade to comrade, the cry that comes from men who say: "We have waited for you, when the friends of liberty should come across the sea and shake hands with us, to see that a new world was constructed upon a new basis and foundation of justice and right."

I can tell you the inspiration that came out of those simple voices in the crowds. And the proudest thing I have to report to you is that this great country of ours is trusted throughout the world.

PEOPLE RECOGNIZED AS THE MASTERS I have not come to report the proceedings or the results of the proceedings of the peace conference. I have come to report to you that the world has recognized us as the masters of the world.

I have not come to report the proceedings or the results of the proceedings of the peace conference. I have come to report to you that the world has recognized us as the masters of the world.

RIFLEMEN ON ROOFS WATCH STREET CROWD

Boston Throng Lining Thoroughfares Give a Splendid Reception to the President; Committee Greets Executive

Wilson Lifts His Hat to the Wildly Cheering Throng as He Passes Through Streets From the Pier to His Hotel

BULLETIN. BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. BOSTON, Feb. 24.—Andrew J. Rogosky, 32, of Worcester, Mass., was arrested in the Copley Plaza Hotel shortly after 2 o'clock, when he attempted to reach President Wilson's suite.

Police and secret service men found a revolver and a black-jack on Rogosky. He was taken to police headquarters, charged with carrying weapons.

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—President Wilson landed at Commonwealth pier at 11:53 o'clock this morning. Ranks of troops presented arms as the nation's chief executive arrived home after his history-making trip to Europe.

From the revenue cutter Ossipee, which brought him ashore from the transport George Washington, to the officers of the pier, the President walked over a velvet carpet beneath a canopy of flags.

As the revenue cutter came up the harbor with its escort of naval vessels, salutes were fired and banners in the bay greeted the President with a peal of tooting whistles and sirens.

ENIGMA LEFT FROM MASHHEAD. The President left the George Washington and went aboard the cutter at 11:05 a. m. There was a strong west wind, making the sea choppy. As the President boarded the Ossipee, his ensign was broken out on the mainmast.

When the President left the cutter at the pier, he passed through ranks of a welcoming committee, composed of high naval officials and members of the army department of the Northwest.

Three airplanes, which had been circulating about the transport earlier in the morning, maneuvered over the pier as the President landed. There was much cheering as the Ossipee approached the wharf and President Wilson was seen standing on the bridge of the cutter.

The Ossipee was alongside the pier at 11:45, but there was considerable delay in getting the gangplank in readiness.

PRESIDENT MEETS COMMITTEE. After the President had been taken in the elevator to the upper level of the pier, he was introduced to a number of army and naval officials and members of the committee of welcome.

Leaving the pier, the parade headed for the downtown district of Boston, through streets that were hanked on both sides with cheering thousands, held back by ropes and by police and troops. The route was past the state house and Boston Common. A police automobile filled with officers preceded the President's car.

Boston strove to outdo the greetings extended to the President in London, Paris and Rome. The President bowed and waved his hat again and again in response to the continuous yell of welcome.

Every window had its crowd, waving flags and shouting. But on the roofs were soldiers with rifles, watching the throngs in the streets and people in the windows opposite.

As the procession approached Boston Common a salute of twenty-one guns was fired by two three-pounders, manned by coast artillerymen from the harbor forts, stationed in the Common. The concussion rattled windows for blocks around. The cheering reached its highest point when the President passed the state house.

The President stood in his car during the entire parade, acknowledging the continuous demonstrations. He appeared much pleased with his reception. In the car with him and Mrs. Wilson were Governor

Business Chances

No, you don't always need money—sometimes the other fellow needs your skill, and brains, and experience.

ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT IN BOSTON

realize those things, feeling they are fighting for their lives and the country, and when these accounts of what it was all about reached them from America, they lifted their heads, they raised their eyes to heaven; then they saw men in khaki coming across the sea in the spirit of crusaders and they found that these were strange men, reckless of danger, not only, but reckless of death, and they were fighting in the dream and fighting in the dream, and the whole tide of battle and it never came back.

And now do you realize this confidence we have established throughout the world, imposed upon us? If you choose to call it a burden.

NATION SHOULD BE PROUD OF BURDEN

It is one of those burdens which any nation ought to be proud to carry. Any man who resists the present times that run in the world will find himself thrown upon a shore so high and barren that it will seem as if he had been thrown from his human kind forever.

"I invite him to test the sentiments of the nation. We set this nation up to make men free and we did not confine our conception and purpose to America and now we will make men free."

"If we did not do that all the fame of America would be confined to carry power for those narrow, selfish, provincial purposes which seem so dead to some minds that have no sweep beyond the nearest horizon. I should welcome no sweeter challenge than this. I have fighting blood in me, and it is sometimes a delight to let it have scope, but if it is to be an indulgence."

"Think of the picture, think of the utter blackness that would fall on the world. America made a little essay at generosity, then withdrew."

"America said, 'We are your friends' but it was only for today not for tomorrow."

"America said, 'There is our power to indicate right' and then the next day said, 'Let right take care of itself and we will take care of ourselves.'"

"America said, 'We set up a light to lead men along the paths of liberty, but we have lowered it; it is intended only to light our picture.'"

"We set up a great ideal of liberty and then we said, 'Liberty is a thing that you must win for yourself. Do not call upon us.'"

AMERICA AS WORLD'S FRIEND

And think of the world that we would have. Do you realize how many nations are going to be set up in the presence of old and powerful nations in Europe and left there, if left by us, without a disinterested friend?

Do you believe in the Polish cause as I do?

Are you going to set up Poland, immature, inexperienced, as yet unrecognized, and leave her with a circle of armies around her?

Do you believe in the aspira-

Cardinal Gibbons Urges Free Ireland Aged Prelate Reads Resolution

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 24.—A resolution presented by Cardinal Gibbons urging the peace congress to apply to Ireland the doctrine of national self-determination and a declaration of principles demanding that if any league or nations be created, all features which may infringe on the traditional American policy, including the Monroe Doctrine shall be eliminated, were adopted unanimously at the closing session of the convention of the Irish Race in America.

The text of the resolution: "We, the delegates to the convention of the Irish race in America, assembled in Philadelphia, the city in which the immortal Declaration of American liberty was given to the world, and speaking for many millions of American citizens, call upon the President and Congress of the United States of America to insist that the peace conference now in session in Paris to apply to Ireland the great doctrine of national self-determination and to recognize the right of the people of Ireland to select for themselves, without interference from any other people, the form of government under which in the future they shall live."

"We urge this claim in the first place in the name of justice, recognizing and insisting on the truth set forth by the founders of our republic that all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

PROGRESS CITED

"We urge this claim in the name of America, insisting, as we have just shown in the case of France, that we are not an alien people, and for ourselves, without interference from any other people, the form of government under which in the future they shall live."

"We urge this claim in the name of Ireland, because of the unparalleled struggle for now seven and a half centuries that Ireland has carried on for national existence and liberty, because all efforts to break down and destroy that existence have failed, and because of the extraordinary majority by which less than two months ago the people of Ireland decided and declared their satisfaction with the government of their land by England, but also their determination to govern themselves without interference from any outside influence or power."

IRISH MUST DECIDE

"We urge this claim in the name of humanity, because we believe that war cannot be ended and a just and permanent peace cannot be brought about unless the doctrine of self-determination be applied to Ireland and the people of that country be permitted to decide for themselves the form of government under which they shall live."

"We point out that England has tried to force the Czechoslovaks and the Jugoslovaks, as I do? Do you know how many would be quick to pounce upon them if there were not the guarantee of the world behind their liberty?"

Have you thought of the suffering of Armenia? You poured out your money to help succor the Armenians after they suffered; now set up your strength so that they shall never suffer again."

The arrangement of the present peace cannot stand a generation unless they are guaranteed by the united forces of the civilized world. And if we do not guarantee them, can you not see the picture?"

Your hearts have instructed where the burden of this war fell. It did not fall upon the national treasures; it did not fall upon the instruments of administration; it did not fall upon the resources of the nations. It fell upon the voiceless homes everywhere, where women were toiling in hope that their men would come back.

"When I think of the homes upon which dull despair would settle if this great hope is disappointed, I should wish for my part never to have had America play any part whatever in this attempt to emancipate the world. But I talk as if there were a question. I have no doubt of the verdict of America in this matter. I have no more doubt of the verdict of America in this matter than I have doubt of the blood that is in me."

The Europe that I left the other day was full of hope, full of things it had never felt fill its heart so full before. It was full of hope.

The Europe of the second year of the war, the Europe of the third year of the war, was sinking to a sort of stubborn desperation.

They did not see any great thing to be achieved, even when the war should be won. They hoped there would be some savior; they hoped that they could clear their territories of invading armies; they hoped they could set up their homes and start their industries afresh. But they thought it would simply be a resumption of the old life that Europe had led—led in fear, led in anxiety, led in constant suspicious watchfulness. They never dreamed that it would be a Europe of settled peace and of justified hope.

ALL EUROPE IS BUCKING NEW HOPE

And now these ideals have wrought this new magic; that all the peoples of Europe are buoyed up and confident in the spirit of hope, because they believe that we are at the eve of a new day in the world when nations will understand one another, when nations will support one another in every just cause, when nations will unite every moral and every physical strength to see that the right shall prevail.

men will be thrown back upon the bitterness of disappointment not only, but the bitterness of despair.

CONDITIONS AT BREST TOLD BY GEN. HELMICK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Charges that soldiers and nurses are confined practically as prisoners in quarters at the Brest camp, according to a report filed by General Helmick, this answer from Helmick was made when a cablegram of protest sent to President Wilson charged that soldiers from the front and held prisoners were being held in the Brest camp.

General Helmick reported as follows: "An individual has been put at the head of the camp. No man of the garrison of more than 60,000 is required to remain in line over ten minutes. Troops are marched to meals by time schedules and the entire garrison is fed within one hour and fifteen minutes."

"Relative to charges that officers are over-bearing and harsh and casuals no consideration, all casual officers passing through here have almost without exception voluntarily visited my office before leaving and have expressed their appreciation for the uniform courtesy and consideration shown them at this base station."

FED BY TIME SCHEDULES

"An individual has been put at the head of the camp. No man of the garrison of more than 60,000 is required to remain in line over ten minutes. Troops are marched to meals by time schedules and the entire garrison is fed within one hour and fifteen minutes."

"I will take no action until after a full conference with the chief," said Mrs. Bird told the President that she brought the greetings of all the members of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, to which the President replied: "Give them my warmest regards."

Mechanics hall, where the President spoke, was filled before 1:30, although the President's speech did not begin until 3:02 p. m. The hall was wonderfully decorated. Across the big skylights which light and ventilate the edifice, cream colored muslin had been festooned. The balconies were draped with red, white and blue bunting, and the pillars were festooned with the stars and stripes.

The President's speech, the first made to the people of the United States in the Senate, was planned to lay the background for American support of his program. Its preparation followed a long conference on the George Washington last night and today with Secretary Tamm.

The old building was crowded to the top gallery before the President arrived. A band of soldiers played while the audience awaited the President's coming. At the head of each aisle stood an army officer, a naval officer and a Red Cross nurse, silent and solemn. Most of the music was of a subdued nature, so there was an atmosphere of gravity rather than of patriotic excitement. Mechanics hall was surrounded by troops and credentialed all those entering were carefully viewed by half a dozen guards. Automobiles were turned back at the entrance to the building.

Pictures of Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt and Wilson were hung over the platform.

The President's place was beneath a sounding board. Red, white and blue predominated in the decorations.

Introducing the President, Mayor Peters said: "America greets her President."

In an instant the entire audience was on its feet and for three minutes the applause and cheering continued unrestrained.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS CALLED MAGNA CHARTA

Mayor Peters then of patriotic excitement, introduced the President. He was constantly greeted with applause. He characterized the proposed constitution of the league of nations as a "new Magna Charta of liberty."

He praised the work of President Wilson in enthusiastic terms while the President listened as he proceeded.

A declaration that "across the seas you have spoken as an American, and you have spoken that liberty shall not perish from the earth" brought a sharp rattle of applause that was joined in by all of the audience.

Mayor Peters was followed by Governor Coolidge, who was given a very warm reception as he took his place under the big yellow painted sounding board.

'SHAKEUP' OF POLICE AGAIN IS RUMORED

Rumors of a police "shakeup" were rife in the city today following the return of Chief of Police Henry Nedderman from Santa Barbara. Nedderman was summoned by Commissioner F. P. Morse, head of the Department of Public Health and Safety, for a conference this evening. Today at noon Nedderman was closeted for about an hour with Dr. P. P. Jackson, the former Commissioner of Public Health and Safety, under whose regime he was appointed as the chief's place. He did not disclose the nature of this conference.

Several issues have arisen since the Chief has been at the convention of identification experts in the south. Cafes have been cited under vice charges, the Civil Service Board has rendered a decision establishing Police Lieutenant William F. Woods as a senior lieutenant over Lieutenant Bert Currier, which in effect disapproves Nedderman's placing Currier in charge of the Eastern station as acting captain over Woods, and other crime have been made by citizens.

"I will take no action until after a full conference with the chief," said Mrs. Bird told the President that she brought the greetings of all the members of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, to which the President replied: "Give them my warmest regards."

Mechanics hall, where the President spoke, was filled before 1:30, although the President's speech did not begin until 3:02 p. m. The hall was wonderfully decorated. Across the big skylights which light and ventilate the edifice, cream colored muslin had been festooned. The balconies were draped with red, white and blue bunting, and the pillars were festooned with the stars and stripes.

RECEPTION IS DEMONSTRATIVE

President Wilson's reception in Boston today was characterized by those who traveled with him through Europe as being fully as demonstrative as any he received in England, France or Italy.

The President looked as though the journey had agreed with him physically. He appeared vigorous and alert, his step was brisk and his features showed rather more than a trace of sea tan. Some observers declared that the lines in his face showed the strain under which he had been working in Europe.

President Wilson greeted a delegation from the Massachusetts Woman's Suffrage Association, headed by Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird. Mrs. Bird presented the President with a large bouquet of American beauty roses in recognition of his work and efforts toward liberty, democracy and self-government for all the peoples of the world and his interest in our cause.

Mrs. Bird told the President that she brought the greetings of all the members of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, to which the President replied: "Give them my warmest regards."

BRITAIN HAS TROOPERS IN MANY PLACES

LONDON, Feb. 24.—A glance at the maps of Europe and Asia on which are designated positions of British troops shows there to be rather well spotted. For one reason or another the British war department still considers it necessary to keep troops in some of the out-of-the-way places of the world. While it is planned to reduce the number of the forces there is no immediate force of the withdrawal of any force.

In the Balkans the British are using their forces as stabilizing influence against the varied ambitions of the several states. In Trans-Caspia, northwest of Afghanistan, they are protecting the population from Turkish excesses, the result of the refusal of the Turks to realize they have been beaten in the war. In Trans-Caucasia they are fighting the Russian Bolsheviks. In Northern Italy they are acting as a buffer between the Austrians and Czechoslovaks until the peace conference settles differences there. Several commands are in Russia and fairly large forces are being maintained in India, Mesopotamia and Northern Persia.

The British have troops in Russia on the Murman coast, south of Archangel, and at Omsk, while at Vladivostok is a brigade of Canadians.

Peptiron A Real Iron Tonic

Gives vigor and nerve tone to aged and infirm. Restores vitality after overwork, worry, excitement or close confinement in homes or shops.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing muscular strength, and restoring vitality, it is evident that thin people are in need of a tonic.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in most of the foods we eat. There is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate, Bitro-Phosphate. Bitro-Phosphate is a tonic which is inexpensive and is sold by The Owl Drug Company in Oskosh, Wis., and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body with the necessary phosphoric food elements, Bitro-Phosphate quickly produces a well-developed, muscular body. The increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which always accompany thinness, disappear. Dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of youth.

CAUTION:—Although Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who desires to put on flesh. —Advertisement.

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (often pneumonia).

30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

How Colds Are Contracted. Colds are due to bacterial germs that are usually present in the air passages of the throat and nose of healthy persons. Under ordinary conditions they do no harm but when you get chilled, very tired or eat too much so as to weaken your resistance they are quick to take advantage of it and almost before you know it you have a cold. Get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and take it according to the plain printed directions and you will soon be rid of it, when you neglect it look out. Some of the most serious diseases result from neglected colds. For sale by Osgood Bros. Drug Co.—Advertisement.

WOMEN EVERYWHERE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as the Greatest Remedy for Woman's Ills.

New Haven, Conn.—"For two years I suffered with a female weakness, pains in my back and painful periods, and I was so weak and tired that I was not able to do my work. A friend told me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it gave me great relief. My pains left me and I am now able to do my work and feel fine. You can publish my testimonial and if your Vegetable Compound does others as much good as it has me I will be very much pleased."—Mrs. CHARLES E. MORSE, 37 Sea Street, New Haven, Conn.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful is because it contains the curative, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act directly on the female organism.

There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are denied this happiness on account of some functional disorder which in most cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such women should not give up hope until they have given this wonderful medicine a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of 40 years' experience is at your service.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the only medicine that does not irritate the stomach and bowels, and they are the only medicine that does not cause the patient to feel "sick" or "drugged."

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dizziness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

REPUBLIC OF GERMANY IS TAKING FORM

WEIMAR, Feb. 24 (by the Associated Press).—While the German National Assembly has been holding open meetings, several committees have found time to discuss the draft of a new German constitution as prepared by Hugo Preuss, a member of the cabinet. The draft has now passed on second reading. The original few paragraphs have been cut up and expanded into 109 paragraphs, which cover every point carefully.

The new draft consists of seven divisions. The first division, entitled "The Nation and Its Component States," provides that the national territory shall consist of the former German states, as well as other states that may, after a plebiscite, desire to be incorporated with Germany.

The flag of the new republic will be black, red and gold. The first division provides that the executive power lies with the people.

The third article says the generally accepted rules of international law shall be a basic part of the German law.

Succeeding articles provide for the defense of the nation and cover colonial questions, customs duties and public transportation.

NATIONAL COUNCIL.
It is provided the nation shall have the right to enact laws governing citizenship, charity and poverty, the rights of citizens, crimes and penalties, judicial matters, the right of union, the relations between workmen and employers, the insurance of workmen, the promotion of labor and trade, weights and measures, industry, mines, insurance, ocean traffic, freedom of the press, freedom of organization and meeting, and the rights and care of war veterans and their relatives.

The various German states will be represented in the government by a "national council." Each member of the council can introduce bills, but a bill to be introduced to the assembly must have the assent of the council.

The second division contains eleven articles regarding the basic rights of the German people, including full freedom of belief, religion, art and science. Labor, as the greatest national wealth, is especially protected. Personal freedom of dwelling and property are guaranteed, as is secrecy of the postal service.

ELECTION REGULATION.
The third division contains nineteen articles and provides that details shall be determined by the national government regarding the regulation of elections. The government may elect a year for the first Monday of December at the capital of the government. The president, it is provided, can call the assembly earlier and must do so if at least one-third of the members demand it be called. The constitution may be changed by a two-thirds vote of the full membership of the assembly.

Election of a president is provided for in a fourth division. He must be at least 35 years old and a German citizen for ten years and will serve a seven-year term. He may be reelected through a popular vote.

The fifth and sixth divisions touch on finance, trade and transportation and a common postal system for the entire nation. The seventh division covers details of courts and other judicial organizations.

LEPER COLONY INMATES VISIT TOWN MOVIES
Manuel Cufea and William Cufea, brothers and inmates of the leper colony at the Alameda County Infirmary, cut a hole in the high wire fence last night and walked forth to San Leandro to make their spring purchases.

Silveria, another inmate, walked through the wide gate which had been left open and made his way to town. The inmates had a celebration. They took in a moving picture show and bought socks. Then they returned to the infirmary.

The excursions of the Cufea boys into the outer world have been repeated several times, a movie proving the usual attraction. Visitors to the leper colony frequently give the inmates money. The boys with the pocket money seek chances to spend it for car rides, shows and merry. The fence is being mended and the gate guarded.

Printers' Modesty Will Be Disclosed
How modest is a printer? Some folks say he is immodest, seeing as how he "looks forms in his embrace."

K. L. Hamman, president of the club, will preside.

MARKET SURVEY SHOWS PROGRESS IN BOLSHIEVISM

Work on the Eastbay market survey is assuming tangible form, according to Harry A. Lafler, who is in charge. Splendid progress is made in listing business houses and factories in Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Albany, Fremont, Emeryville and San Leandro. Mapping of business houses in Berkeley and Alameda has already been completed, Lafler says, and he expects to have the entire survey completed within the next six weeks. Relative to the plan, Lafler said:

"This survey is going to prove of great value to manufacturers, jobbers, wholesalers and national advertisers. More than $100,000,000 worth of supplies of various kinds are bought annually by the Eastbay cities, and with a survey such as we are planning, merchandising will be made far more efficient and much waste that formerly resulted will be eliminated."

"This is the first definite step ever taken in the Eastbay cities to promote the industry through a practical survey system, according to Lafler, who expects the benefits to prove far-reaching."

JACK LONDON BOOK OBJECT OF BURGLARY? POLICE HUNT
Burglars last night entered the saloon of "Johnny" Heinold, Jack London's childhood friend. The saloon is located at the foot of Webster street, near the Webster-street bridge.

Whether they were in search of Heinold's manuscript, "My adventures with Jack London," which he is now writing, or really want the two quarters of "mild edge whiskey" and ten packages of smoking tobacco, the police are not prepared to say. However, the whiskey and tobacco is all that was found to be missing.

Entrance was gained through a rear window. The cash register was untouched.

Telegraphers Ask Burleson's Removal
Liberty Council, Commercial Telegraphers of America, at its meeting yesterday in the San Francisco Labor Temple adopted resolutions for the removal of Postmaster General Burleson for alleged failure to treat with a delegation of commercial telegraphers.

Last night copies of the resolutions were forwarded to President Wilson, Secretary of Labor Wilson, the American Federation of Labor and the California Commercial Telegraphers Association.

The meeting yesterday was addressed by L. L. Marshall, first international vice president of the union. Marshall took exception to statements contained in a pamphlet recently published by officials of the Postal Telegraph Company, which is alleged to have asked that government control of telegraph wires be a failure.

"Back to Soil," Is New Trend For Society

What's the use of living in California where the whole great outdoors is waiting to be conquered? If you do not get out with the conquering weapons and conquer? What's the use of spring if there are not buds to burst forth? What's the use of rain and sunshine if the harvest is not to be gleaned? Dandelions and bayonets are very lovely. Gardens and dappled, gay hats, and hand-painted towels and brilliant juiced baskets are all very pretty as bits of local color, but spring is working in the blood of the women of the smart set and the holiday vanities are being replaced by the earnestness and the implements are being hauled forth and womanhood is getting down to the real business of the earth of God and man and musing as mere pastimes complete in themselves will have to look to their laurels, educating minds and matrons are turning to agriculture and making it "smart." The powers-that-be, leading the encouragement and down at the Davis Farm the University of California has admitted twenty-two women, confessing to farm projects, exactly the same terms and with the same qualifications that it has taken the men. Mrs. P. A. Woodman has gone from Oakland to master the mysteries of farm mathematics, farm science, vegetable gardening and poultry raising. Mrs. Woodman is a more interesting game to play than bridge and far more thrilling than tea.

Miss Edith of Berkeley has learned the evers and somers and is a self-confessed disciple of the soil with an immediate farm project in view.

The bestowal of honors upon Californians and States, the day-by-day folk, is such an every day occurrence that it is those who have not been suggested out who are unusual. Crosses and medals and honorary mentions are quite matter of fact things. Hardly a week passes but some California man or woman has been offered national recognition. There is Dr. Margaret McNight, commissioner of Elementary Schools in California, who has been sought out to become the immediate successor of John H. Hays, former chairman of the committee having to do with the revision of the elementary commission under the National Education Association. If one does not appreciate the distinction which the appointment carries to the brilliant woman so well known among the bay, one has but to recall the national prominence of the late authority on public education and superintendent of the Chicago schools. Dr. McNight might be a social leader but she is not the long string of scholastic letters behind her name.

George Barr Baker, commander in chief of the Navy, has received the Order of the Commander of the Legion of Honor, bestowed by King Albert of Belgium in recognition of his services in connection with the relief of Belgium during the war.

It was Pope Benedict who gave Commander Baker a letter of introduction to Cardinal Gibbons with the request that the eminent clergyman assist Baker in his efforts on behalf of the Belgian children. The Pope himself contributed $100,000 toward the $2,000,000 fund for relief of the little folk in the devastated country, which the pope was raising at the time of his audience.

Upon Miss Norma Evans, a University of California girl, fell the direction of one of the largest Red Cross huts in France, and from stories which drift westward old friends have learned how efficiently she has served her country and the cause of the allies.

Miss Evans has been located near Bordeaux, at Base Hospital 114. All sorts of honors have fallen to her lot.

Miss Lois Lyon, winning her sheepskin from the University of California last year with particular honors for her degree of public health, has been called to Grand Forks, North Dakota, as bacteriologist in the State Laboratory, a signal honor for the clever California girl. Following the declaration of war, Miss Lyon offered herself for government service, and was awarded bacteriologist at Camp Fremont. She has been released to accept the new appointment.

Mrs. Andrew McCrorey, the charming sister of Mrs. George Whitney, has been called to Grand Forks, North Dakota, for two months. For many years her residence has been made in the home of her mother, Mrs. K. E. McCrorey, in San Francisco. Mrs. McCrorey is now coming awaiting her acceptance. Since coming on from New York she has been ill and unable to participate in the gaieties of the season. However, she is completely recovered and will be made much of through the spring.

Lawrence McCrorey is with her. Miss Violet Whitney has spent much time with her aunt abroad, and accompanied her on many of her interesting tours of the continent.

Lieutenant Arthur Gibson, who has been overseas for more than a year, and his attractive wife, who has been spending the long months of separation with her mother, Mrs. K. E. McCrorey, are rejoicing that it will be but a few weeks before the young officer is back in California. From France he came telegrams announcing that the sailing will be not long delayed.

Miss Mary Page has arrived from New York, where she has been spending the winter and until sailing for Japan will be the home guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Page in Berkeley. Miss Page and Miss Eva Page are just young people who have gone seriously into Young Women's Christian Association work, and been fellow students in the University of California.

PROHIBITION IS BANQUET TOPIC

The twenty-seventh annual banquet of the Prohibitionists Saturday evening was one of the most successful ever held. As each plate in the dining hall was a small hatch with the word "victory" and the dates 1893-1919 upon it. This souvenir represented George Washington's political righteousness, the fifty years' life of the Prohibition party and enforcement. County Chairman L. W. Husted presided, with the Lieutenant Governor and legislative guests, including the ladies, about him at the table. Thanks were given by Rev. James Falconer of Knox Presbyterian church, Berkeley.

At 8 o'clock, after the banquet, some three hundred assembled in the dining room. Rev. Wm. Keeney Fowler offered a prayer. S. P. Meads was toastmaster for the evening.

Senator A. P. Anderson was introduced as the "first man to respond" in the California Legislature.

Senator A. H. Broad spoke. Clifton E. Brooks of the 27th district received the regular nomination of the Prohibition party and spoke enthusiastically of the work of the party.

Arthur H. Wandering, from the 1st district was introduced as one of the youngest members of the Legislature. The greatest applause was given to N. G. Trenchard of San Francisco, the only member out of twenty-one from that city who voted for ratification.

The usual subscription and collection for prohibition work was managed by H. E. Wolcott, treasurer of the prohibition committee, in which part of the program the guests were forbidden to participate.

Mrs. P. G. DeVo of the W. C. T. U. spoke briefly of the women's work. Dr. A. H. Briggs, "the right hand man of Dr. Gaudier," of 740 S. Van Ness street, to the police. He left home Thursday on a bicycle, the father says, and has not been seen since. He was missing two days last time he disappeared and then returned home.

Van Ness street, to the police. He left home Thursday on a bicycle, the father says, and has not been seen since. He was missing two days last time he disappeared and then returned home.

Students in the New York training school for young women, who are in New York when troops have come and gone in countless procession and great men have been welcomed and bid "bonjour." Miss Page has spent years in the Orient. She is a graduate of the University of California and belongs to an old pioneer family in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher Aurelius Buckenham have set up housekeeping in Los Angeles, planning to extend their honeymoon through the early summer. They have lessened their expenses for several months. Until the brilliant marriage of a fortnight ago, Mrs. Buckenham was the popular Miss Helen Merrill. She is the daughter of Colonel E. H. Merrill and Mrs. Merrill of Berkeley.

Mrs. Frank Buck will be a dinner hostess on Tuesday evening, March 4, entertaining across the bay, prevailing the Mardi Gras. Among those who will accept her hospitality are Mr. and Mrs. George Stoddard and Mr. and Mrs. William Hook.

The younger set is promised a full share in the gaieties at Fort Winfield Scott so long as Major Frederick Seydell, U. S. A., and his popular young wife, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Seydell, are stationed there. The Seydells are already cozily established in the house which has been set apart for their use. Mrs. Seydell is busy planning a series of affairs which will include her friends from this side.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Harvey closed their Vermont street home over the week-end to entertain Santa Cruz over the holidays. They had as their guest on the delightful outing Dr. MacKenzie and Mrs. MacKenzie, formerly Miss Adah Goddard Chisholm, whose wedding anniversary it was. A dinner in compliment to the MacKenzies was arranged in celebration of the occasion.

One of the pretty affairs of the week will be the afternoon at bridge at which Mrs. Whipple Hall will be hostess on Thursday, her guests numbering the intimates who have made up the personnel of one of the winter's card clubs.

Asks American Aid of Ireland's Claims

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—"Sin Féin" and the newly proclaimed Irish Republic founded the theme of a lecture by Miss Kathleen Brennan of Dublin, Ireland, at Knights of the Red Branch Hall last night. The speaker made an appeal for American support of Ireland's claims before the Peace Conference and her auditors cheered time and again her portrayal of Erin's struggle for recognition among the nations of the world.

Death in Swimming Tank Is Accidental

That George Hammes, the man found dead Saturday night in the Piedmont Baths, died from a rupture of a blood vessel in the brain, probably caused by striking his head on the bottom of the tank, is the report of Dr. E. V. Tiffany, who performed the autopsy on the body. Hammes, who resided at 1337 Thirteenth street, was found dead in the tank late Saturday. The coroner's office will return an accident report.

Shoots Man Whom He Thought a Robber

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Harold J. Desmoineaux, standing on the sidewalk at 224 Ellis street yesterday, pressed a gun against the stomach of Morgan Holmes, a chance passer who had stopped near him, and shot him, perhaps fatally.

"I had been drinking, and when I saw Holmes I imagined he was the man who robbed me," he said when captured by the police after a chase in which he fired several more shots. He explained he had been robbed of $23 in an alley a short time before.

Tiffany, who performed the autopsy on the body. Hammes, who resided at 1337 Thirteenth street, was found dead in the tank late Saturday. The coroner's office will return an accident report.

Women Find Clear Skin In Simple Laxative.

A sense of false modesty often prevents women from admitting that many of their ailments and disorders are due primarily to constipation.

But women who know themselves have learned that headache remedies and beautifiers only cover the trouble but do not dislodge it.

What is needed is a remedy to move the bowels and stir up the torpid liver. An ever-increasing number of sensible women take a small dose of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold by druggists under that name.

It will save a woman from the habitual use of headache remedies, skin lotions and similar makeshifts. Once the bowels are emptied and regulated, the headache and the pimples and blotches disappear. It is the rational, natural method.

A bottle of Syrup Pepsin lasts a family a long time, and all will find use for it from time to time. Thoughtful people are never without it in the house.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

PRICE AS ALWAYS
In case of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the war, the price of Syrup Pepsin will be increased. The price of Syrup Pepsin will be increased. The price of Syrup Pepsin will be increased.

EMPLOYERS!

Please Read This Soldiers--Sailors Want WORK

They have been "Over There" or on their way there, all willing to give their lives for democracy. They are now back, most of them, and we are asking you to help locate them in positions—the least that might be expected of patriotic employers. To make this possible the United States Employment Service has entered in its branch office at 816 Broadway, Oakland, the placement of soldiers, sailors and war workers.

If you need any men—whether highly skilled, technical, professional, mechanical or general help of any kind—please call and list your wants, or phone.

Children's Colds—

To make your distressed baby easy and comfortable, give Foley's Honey and Tar.

It is just what children ought to have for feverish colds, coughs, "snuffles" and tight wheezy breathing. It stops croup, too.

Foley's Honey and Tar, tastes good and the little ones like it. It contains no morphine, chloroform or other drugs that you would not like to give the young children. Do not accept a substitute.

"My baby was stricken with a severe cough and cold at one month old. I gave him ten to fifteen drops of Foley's Honey and Tar every three hours and it surely did help him. He hasn't been sick a day since." Mrs. L. H. Garrett, Schoolfield, Va.

Fire! Honeymooners Cook Dinner Marshall Leaps to Subdue Blaze

ALBANY, Feb. 24.—Fire Marshal Thomas H. McCourtney, of Albany, is a zealous guardian of the homes of that city.

Yesterday, while sunning himself in front of the Albany firehouse at San Pablo avenue and Brighton street, McCourtney saw a cloud of smoke rising over El Cerrito hill and threatening to descend upon neighboring homes.

Hastily sounding the fire siren which calls together the volunteer members of his department, McCourtney leaped to the seat of the Albany fire engine and charged up the steep slope of the hill.

Seizing one end of a hose, McCourtney dashed to where the cloud of smoke was assuming large proportions. What he saw almost sent him reeling down the hillside. There, calmly unaware of the presence of a third party, were two honeymooners busy preparing a supper of bacon and eggs over a campfire. Nearby was an automobile completely equipped with camping accessories.

Staring at the couple, McCourtney looked up into the nozzle of a hose. "We were just hungry, that's all, and this looked like a good place to stop," they explained, breathlessly. "Next time you want to cook a meal over a campfire see that you do it outside the city limits," was the parting thrust of the irate fire marshal, as he gathered up his hose and his engine and started down the hillside again.

News of the Churches

The First Christian church at Grand avenue and Webster street, was not only packed last night to hear Jack Godwin, but hundreds were turned away without even hearing the announcement that he would speak in the church tonight. He has a thrilling story to tell—or several of them. He said he had been 22 years a gambler with a different program every night and it would take 22 years to tell it. One of his experiences was to clean up $48,000 in a single game at John Alissouri. He told it not boastfully, but with tears of regret at the result. Of the four others in the game who contributed to the pot, one went insane and the other became a hobo.

When Jack was converted he gave away his ill-gotten gains and went to every court where he knew charges were against him and pleaded guilty, offering to serve the penalty, but convinced of his sincerity the courts refused to enforce the law but gave him a chance which he is improving with burning zeal.

His specialty seems to be the conversion of L. W. Ws. and he claims 25,000 of that organization have surrendered to him their membership cards as evidence of repentance. To him the L. W. W. organization is the enemy of everything that is good, but he knows how to sympathize with evildoers, having been shot eleven times, in July 16 times, and acknowledging that he should have been in jail many more times. He only considers three or four per cent of the L. W. Ws. as really bad and the rest are only following the bell sheep. And many of them had been made L. W. Ws. by the treatment of their employers.

Jack said he was converted by the song "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" a song by which he is deeply moved to this day, as anyone could see who watched him last night, when it was sung by his singing partner, H. M. Worthin, who used old music altogether; his other solo being "Home Sweet Home." The hymns sung by the congregation were the best known and even the anthem by the choir was to the tune of "Old Black Joe." The evangelist will continue for the present to hold forth at the First Christian church. The result can be only good.

Jack speaks in a more penitent and humble manner and his life story is not calculated, as might be supposed, to "sell" the idea that it is a great thing to be a great sinner that a man may become a great reformer. For four his words might provoke violence on the part of L. W. W. agitators, led the church to ask for police protection. It was given, but it was not needed. It was a perfectly respectable looking and acting crowd and Jack held it spell bound. He gave no demonstration except frequent applause which Jack encouraged, saying as it was his appointment and shaking was the only way the audience had to express itself. Incidentally, Godwin is a witness to Godwin's conversion. He was in the army when the war broke out and saw the boys whose right arms had been cut off by authority of the Kaiser.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY. Washington's birthday was celebrated Sunday night at the Fourth Methodist church at Fifty-seventh avenue, the pastor, Rev. James B. Orr, preaching a sermon on "George Washington."

After a review of what Washington did in his day, the speaker asked: "Did Washington try to think out all the problems of the future? Did he foresee the problems of this day? Or did he only lay down principles to be adopted and followed as the occasion should arise? What he said in his day might not now be at all relevant. If he were here now he might be the first to reverse his decisions."

John Robinson, one of the greatest of the Puritan fathers, said: "There is always more to be learned from the word of God." So, there is always more light to break from the book of human progress. There is no reason to disbelieve that Washington is helping to guide the destiny of the nation. Space is nature to people in the spirit realm. In these days of wireless messages it is not strange to believe that Washington from the centuries beyond of history sends thoughts to the receptive minds of present day leaders.

DR. SILESEY'S SERMON. The church regards the Senator who opposes the league of nations as an enemy of "humanity," said Rev. Frank M. Silsey, speaking on "What Kind of Christ for These Times?" Sunday night at the First Baptist church of Oakland. Sunday night, on "What Kind of Christ for These Times?" Dr. Silsey said that the Christ of these times is not a Socialist, though he authorizes social teachings of justice and righteousness for all. He is a peacemaker and approves the league of nations. He is a Christian, though he speaks to the people of the nation through such men as Taft and Wilson. He is a man of peace, though he sends thoughts of peace to the world for lasting peace to prevent future wars as precious and costly. If now the victors do not make a covenant of peace, the world is in a perilous position. The voice of the church is that a statesman or prophet who opposes honest covenant making will prevent another wholesale slaughter of humanity has a vision contracted by prejudiced preachers.

"The church may have failed in many ways before the war and has learned the lesson to throw all its influence on the side of realistic Christ in the national and national order and transforming human nature. The message of the church is that the paramount duty is to organize the peace of the world so that the future will be secure from the nightmare of Kaiserism or bolshevism."

GALLAGHER ON LABOR. Supervisor Andrew J. Gallagher of San Francisco spoke at the opening meeting of the First Unitarian church of Oakland, Sunday night, on "What Labor Will Do." He said that labor will not go into another war unless it proves to be what it was said to be. We think we see in some of the allies a turning away from the supposed aims of this war and a reaching out for expansion and money. The fact is that if any country, and the American labor motion had not gone to Europe and convinced the labor of Italy and France that the President and Americans were sincere in their aims, the labor interest would have quit and we would have lost the war.

Now it is up to the nations to make good their aims. I know these are dangerous times to speak frankly. If you say what you think you are turning away from the supposed aims of this war and a reaching out for expansion and money. The fact is that if any country, and the American labor motion had not gone to Europe and convinced the labor of Italy and France that the President and Americans were sincere in their aims, the labor interest would have quit and we would have lost the war.

CAPT. BRAVES SHARK; DIVES TO FIX PROPELLER

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—While his mate fished for and landed a 1200-pound shark, Captain J. H. Trask swam out of the Oceansic liner Sonoma in order to determine the cause of propeller trouble. In appreciation of his bravery passengers on the vessel, which arrived here yesterday, have presented him with a solid silver coffee service.

The vessel was 200 miles out of Sydney, Australia, en route to San Francisco, when Captain Trask became "tired of having things go wrong on the starboard propeller."

As Captain Trask was the best swimmer on board, he donned a bathing suit and put out in a small boat. A heavy sea buffeted him as he dove twice to the propeller. The third time he carried a line. This caught on a projection on the boat and for two minutes he struggled before he cut the line free and came to the surface.

At the opposite end of the vessel during the time that Trask swam about endeavoring to remedy the propeller trouble, officers and passengers of the liner has cast a line for sharks. A 1200-pounder was caught and was being hauled in while Trask struggled to cut the line in his third diving attempt. Unable to repair the damage, the vessel steamed back to Sydney. Here the broken propeller was entirely removed. The steamer made the trip from Sydney to San Francisco on half power and arrived ten days behind schedule.

Jaw Broken When He Tries to Clear House

Michael Ryan, 2820 Union street, is in the city jail nursing a broken jaw and awaiting the decision of his fate in the police court, the victim of the proposition to clear the city of its "undesirable" population, according to the police. Ryan, the police say, visited the family of his married daughter, Mrs. T. C. Thompson, 17 Eighth street, yesterday, and proposed to clear the family of the house. One member of the family, Philip Killallon of San Francisco, did not run, but instead "avenged" on Ryan, with the resultant broken jaw. Then the police were called, Ryan taken to the Emergency hospital, and thence to jail.

WOMEN WORRIED OVER WAR LOSE THEIR STAMINA

Indiana Resident Rebuilt Depleted Blood With This Tonic After Long Period of Suffering.

The toll of sickness and death caused by the war cannot be computed from official casualty lists, for the terrific strain of war times has worked havoc among the civilian as well as the military population. Those left behind have had to double their activity in most cases. In addition to this physical strain on those who have had sons, husbands and brothers in the front, there has been a constant frequent cause of debility. Worry and overwork will reduce anyone to a condition where a tonic must be used if the health is to be preserved. Mrs. Ellen H. Mix of No. 1427 W. Seventh street, Muncie, Ind., was one of the many who suffered from war-worry but she happily discovered a remedy that corrected her condition before she was beyond the point where medicines can benefit. She describes her condition as follows:

"I worried so long and so much over the war that I became badly run down several months ago. I became irritable and nervous and didn't have any color, in fact I had so little blood that I suffered constantly from chills."

"I had read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and my husband brought home a box to use as an experiment. After only a few days' trial I felt improved and I continued the treatment until I had regained my strength. My color is good now and I am no longer nervous or irritable and don't feel chills as I did before the treatment. I am recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those of my friends who need a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain the elements necessary to make new blood and, as the nerves get their nourishment from the blood, have been found invaluable in a wide range of diseases of the blood and nerves, such as rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous debility.

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can order direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., enclosing fifty cents for one box or $2.50 for six boxes. Write today for the free booklet on nervous disorders and diet.—Advertisement.

WOMAN WHO LOST $20,000 IN GEMS ILL

Mystery surrounding the non-appearance of Mrs. Josephine K. McAllister to claim $20,000 worth of jewelry held by the San Francisco police, was cleared up today when Mrs. McAllister's sister, Mrs. Franklin Noah Dewey, 1005 Grand Avenue, Alameda, said that Mrs. McAllister is ill in San Francisco.

Mrs. Dewey said today that she has been in touch with Mrs. McAllister, and that within a day or so the latter will be sufficiently recovered in health to call for her valuables, taken from her while she was dining in the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco Friday night.

Mrs. McAllister was ill of influenza in the home of Mrs. Dewey. For weeks Mrs. Dewey has been entertaining, and it is the belief of Mrs. Dewey that the excitement consequent upon her experience in San Francisco caused the attack from which Mrs. McAllister is suffering at present.

On the night of the jewel theft Mrs. McAllister, whose home is in Portland, was dining with Mrs. Dewey and her husband, P. J. Dewey and daughter, A. Boyd, all of San Francisco. The purse in which the valuables were found was on the table between the two women at the time. Some of the jewelry and nearly $200 in money was missing.

The police of San Francisco are seeking a young man and a young woman who were sitting at a table near that occupied by the party of Mrs. McAllister was a number.

JAPANESE FACES FORGERY CHARGE

Occasional methods of forgery, in Japan, proved too拙劣 for S. Horita, a Japanese publisher, who was arrested today at noon by Detectives Edmund McSweeney and Francis Brown, after the two had waited for him several days at a local bank, on a charge of forgery and "kiting" checks.

According to the detectives, Horita had forged the Bank of Italy check, the son of S. Horita, a wealthy local Japanese, and cashed a check at the Bank of Italy for $25, bearing Horita's name, which the police say is a forgery. They had accounts in two other banks, Bank of Japan, and were transferring funds back and forth to cover checks passed, in each case transferring the money from a bank shortly before a big check arrived, under the impression that this could be considered as a "mistake" and not punishable. The deposit slips are held by the detectives and will be used in trial.

Following the appearance of the Bank of Italy checks, bank detectives traced the other deposits, noticed the banks, and detectives were set to work, the bank of Japan agreeing to "tip" them when the depositor appeared. Today he appeared at the teller's window of the First National Bank, and was promptly arrested.

LAD'S QUEST OF ADVENTURE ALARMS FOLKS

BERKELEY, Feb. 24.—Jack Wright, 12-year-old son of Judge and Mrs. W. L. Wright, 1214 Broadway, Oak Knoll and Claremont avenues, got as far as the home of a friend last night after he had started out to "see the world."

Then Jack got homesick for his daddy and mother and returned home. He made his appearance at the Wright residence yesterday morning with one of his cherished belongings under his arm after an all-night search had been made for him by the police of the bay cities.

Jack started from home about 8 o'clock Saturday morning, and when he failed to return that evening his parents grew alarmed and called the police. A search of the city directory revealed the fact that he had taken two extra Boy Scouts' suits with him.

His first stopping place was in the city of Berkeley, where he was on a quest for adventure, provide a alibi, and that the young runaway was in the city of Berkeley at the time of the theft of the "drawings" which he was being sought by the police.

He was being sought by the police of several Bay Area cities.

PUBLICITY FEARS INSPIRE ACTRESS

BERKELEY, Feb. 24.—Rather than submit her friends to the limelight of publicity, Miss Margaret Duff, moving picture actress, forswore the stage, and held the first of the stage alone this morning in Judge Edgar's court when she pleaded guilty to a charge of defrauding the Hotel Statnick of $1,000 in board and lodging.

Miss Duff displayed a telegram alleged to have come from Wallace Reid, moving picture star, from Visalia, but refused to disclose its contents. She declared that she had played minor parts in movies and that she had been identified with the Lasky studios.

"Have you no friends who might help you in your plight?" Judge Edgar asked the young woman in court this morning. "I have, but I would prefer not to call upon them if they are to be subjected to publicity," she replied. Upon the advice of Judge Edgar, Miss Duff declared that she would communicate by telephone with a "gentleman friend" in Berkeley before Wednesday morning, when she will be sentenced.

ONE SALARY CUT; PLACES SWITCHED

The economy bill working for Alameda county, otherwise the Board of Supervisors, ground off another saving of $10 a month today. It reduced the salary of J. C. Mowry, allowance clerk, from $100 to $90, to make it conform with the other reductions recently ordered.

Other great savings are promised for the near future if the machinery keeps working. J. C. Nolan, inspector of rodent exterminator, was switched to bridge tender at the Park street bridge at $100 a month, replacing Frank Fields, appointed to that position last week, but whose appointment was today rescinded.

Fields is not taken care of by the supervisors, and has gone to work elsewhere. Walter Horne, of East Oakland, was appointed assistant to the purchasing agent at $75 a month. It was denied that this is a new position, the explanation being made that Horne takes the place of Nolan, who, though officially designated as lost of the rodent exterminator, was really an assistant in the purchasing department.

Otherwise the business transacted by the supervisors was merely routine. They adopted a resolution re-establishing the Washington and Pleasant township boundaries as they were in 1902, and postponed the advertising of bids for the new construction at Arroyo Semetario to a later date to allow the Institutions Commission to finally approve them. It was expected that the commission's approval would be ready for today and that they could go ahead and advertise for bids for the construction of $120,000 worth of additional buildings. The commission will finally consider the plans as submitted by County Architect H. B. Meyers at a meeting next Friday.

Thieves Carry Off 30 Blooded Canaries

Thieves invaded the gardens of W. Schilling, millionaire grower, at the head of Harrison street, making away with thirty blooded canaries from the aviaries according to the report made to the police this morning.

According to the Schilling complaint, the thieves cut the wire netting of the bird cage, catching the birds on their roosts.

War's Guilt to Be Ignored in Treaty

PARIS, Feb. 24.—(By the Associated Press).—Present indications are that nothing regarding the responsibility for the war beyond a declaration of general principles will be included in the preliminary treaty of peace.

LOTTERY SOURCE IS REPORTED HERE

Is Oakland the mysterious scene of the "drawings" for Chinese lotteries in California?

This is the problem the local police are investigating, following a "tip" from San Jose that lottery agents, arrested there, have told of rumors that in this city the numbers that decide winners are picked. "I got the tip in San Jose while on the way back from the identification bureau convention," said Chief of Police Nedderman. "An agent arrested there said he had heard that the drawings are held in an old warehouse somewhere near the Webster street bridge. Chief of Police John Black of San Jose turned the report over to me."

Detectives today went through the warehouses and the factories, but were unable to find any trace of the supposed lottery headquarters. However, we are running down several lines of investigation in connection with the matter.

The "tip" from San Jose grew out of a raid on an alleged lottery joint by Patrolman Ben Kelly of the San Jose force. Two white men were arrested and these said that the Chinese proprietor of the place told them that the "drawings" which had not arrived were late in coming from Oakland.

Two Lads Taken as Bicycle Thieves

With the arrest this morning of Jack and Frank Linn, brother, aged 17 and 15, the police believe they have the leaders of a gang of bicycle thieves, who have been operating in Alameda county for several weeks. The youths were looked at the detention home on a charge of petty larceny.

In their possession at the time of the arrest the boys had two bicycle tires, which were later identified as belonging to Merwin Armstrong, 1004 Chestnut street and Arthur Clark, 816 Adeline streets, respectively.

AUTO DRIVER SPEEDS AWAY AFTER CRASH

SAN JOSE, Feb. 24.—The police department is looking for an autoist today who trusted to his accelerator after crashing into an automobile driven by Lieutenant F. A. Jones of Camp Fremont and occupied by a number of people. Jones' machine was demolished, but none of his friends was seriously hurt. The driver of the other car tore down several yards of fence at the roadside in his haste to escape from the vicinity to hide his identity. Lieutenant Jones reported the accident to the police and asked for an investigation.

Night Inspectors May Be Revived

Complaints totalling thirteen burglaries and thefts in the last forty-eight hours, mostly of a minor nature, will probably result in the night inspectors being asked for again at the Central Police Station. This detail, organized by former Chief of Police Walter J. Peterson, was done away with by Chief Henry Nedderman. Under Peterson's regime, two inspectors were detailed to sleep at the station, to be called for sudden night alarms. When Nedderman abolished this detail the result was that after 1 o'clock in the morning no inspectors were on duty in the central station.

Death Telegram Is Without a Claimant

The police were asked today to locate Mrs. Emmet Dennis, formerly of Portland, who recently left for this city and whose address the telegraph company cannot find. A message has come to this city from Portland to the effect that her daughter had died there and that she is wanted home.

ACCUSED OF USING 'JIMMY'

Alfred Johnson, a negro, was arrested last night by Corporal of Police Watson, charged with attempting to jimmy open the cash box of a player piano in the saloon at 1751 Seventh street.

ALIEN EVADERS OF DRAFT LISTED

In furtherance of its campaign to promote Americanism, the California Manufacturers' Association is preparing a list of all foreigners who had made application to become citizens and canceled the applications in order to avoid the draft, and will supply these names to all employers in this state, according to Fred Vogel, secretary of the association.

Boegel said that employers could then use their own discretion as to employing such persons. Further, Boegel said: "The step that is being taken is thoroughly constructive. We believe that when people come to the United States to live they should become citizens not only in name, but in fact. There is no room in this country for the hyphen; neither is there any demand for but one language, and that is the American language. We are working for a high standard of citizenship and believe that the only way to accomplish it is through a campaign of education whereby foreign-born citizens may be taught the full significance of Americanism."

Missing Boy's Father Has Fear of Foul Play

Mystery surrounds the disappearance of Russell Snider, 11 years old, who was reported to be missing by his father, C. R. Snyder, 740 Sycamore street, last Thursday. Believing that his son has met with foul play, the father of the boy this morning appealed to the police and asked that a search be instituted.

Supporting his theory that the boy has met with foul play the father of the lad told the police this morning that a month ago his son was forced to stay out all night by a gang of roughs. When he disappeared the boy was wearing a brown velvet cap, black and white striped shirt, red sweater and brown shoes and stockings and brown trousers.

Boy Returns Home to Disprove Kidnap Tale

Norman Olsen, 13 years old, reported to the police several days ago as having been mysteriously kidnaped by a strange woman in a high-powered limousine while he was playing in the street in the middle of the day, has returned home. The boy, unconcerned about the strange rumors that accompanied his disappearance, said he had gone to visit his aunt, who lives in East Oakland. The boy's father is dead, had been learning at the home of Mrs. M. A. Kempf, 820 Bluffin avenue. Neighbors had told Mrs. Kempf, at the time of the alleged kidnaping, that a strange woman had beckoned to the boy while playing on the street and had driven him away in a limousine.

COMMISSION FOR LAND SALE SOUGHT

Commissions amounting to $30,000, claimed to have been earned as the result of the sale of the site for the Liberty Shipyard to the United States Shipping Board in June, 1917, for $1,000,000, are demanded in a suit filed today by George L. Sessions against the Pacific Improvement Company and the Oakland (Waterfront) Company.

The complaint alleges that the Pacific Improvement Company owned the majority of the stock of the other defendant company, and that the plaintiff had a contract with them calling for a 2 per cent commission on the sale of any of their lands. It is alleged that though the plaintiff was instrumental in promoting the sale of the site, he has received none of the commission claimed to be due.

SUES DOCTOR FOR $900 IN RADIUM

Radium of the value of $900, or its equivalent in money, is demanded in a suit filed today by Charles Keskeyes against Mrs. Florence G. Dodds, executrix of the estate of the late Dr. Thomas G. Dodds, who died in October, 1917.

It is alleged in the complaint that the plaintiff gave the physician $1000 with which to buy radium to be used in the treatment of a disease suffered by the plaintiff, and that although the radium was purchased, only $100 worth was used in the treatment. The remainder of it is sought to be recovered from the estate.

POLICE CHIEF IS ARRESTED FOR SPEEDING

"My Experiences While Being Pinched" is a subject that Chief of Police Henry Noddeman is qualified to discuss today as fully as did Mayor John L. Davis, following his Sacramento arrest, only Noddeman can speak more regretfully, for his experience cost him just five times as much as the mayor's cost.

Noddeman is shy $25, the result of being arrested for speeding just outside of Tulare, when one of Sheriff Hoke Smith's deputies picked up the chief and Corporal Vernon Coley. Coley was doing the driving, but when arrested Noddeman drove the car, and the man did his duty. We just forfeited the bail.

But he did not rage the way the mayor did. "I commended the officer very highly," for doing his duty. In fact, I gave him a letter of commendation and informed the sheriff of the courteous treatment he accorded us when he picked us up. We were caught at about forty miles an hour on a straight clear road, and the man did his duty. We just forfeited the bail."

The arrest occurred while the chief was returning with Coley from the Santa Barbara convention. "This was a really remarkable convention," said Noddeman. "The most important part being the move to have the state legislature behind the state bureau of identification. This will be a most constructive thing. Several new methods and important developments in identification work were gone into, and as a result I expect that Oakland will employ these methods."

WOULD REVOKE GAS PRIVILEGES

Instructions were given City Attorney H. L. Hagan today by the city council to start proceedings with the State Railroad Commission to revoke the surcharge privilege of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, granted by the state commission as a war-time measure. Berkeley took similar action last week.

Hagan said he would proceed at once. The instructions were voted on the motion of Commissioner Fred Soderberg.

The license hearing of the saloon of Charles Kolich in West Oakland was postponed until next Monday to permit Kolich to outline his defense. He is charged with operating an immoral place, the arrest of Tossie Diebold in the place under the Federal vice act being the principal cause of action. The next hearing will be heard tomorrow, when federal evidence will be presented on charges of vice and improper conduct of the place.

Assignments of Camp Commanders Listed

Wilson, the Presidio, San Francisco; Brigadier General William H. Sage from Camp Gordon, Ga., to Camp Puncheon, Kan.; Brigadier General William H. Burr from Camp Puncheon to Camp Grant; Camp Jackson, S. C., and Brigadier General S. J. Layard Schindler to Camp Meade, Md.

Quinn Held for Shipyard Forgery

John Quinn, charged with forging the name of E. Calfur, shipyard worker, 3405 Ninth avenue, to a pay check, was held to answer to the superior court by Police Judge Samuel this morning.

According to the evidence, Quinn cashed a check for $20.28, issued by the Moore Shipbuilding Company to Calfur, at the saloon of P. M. Lefevre, showing Calfur's shipyard workers' badge for identification.

Calfur testified that his badge had been stolen while he was at work in the shipyard, and that when he went to the office to get his pay he found that his check had already been given out.

The convicted officers are: A. F. Eutherford, president; W. E. Van Amburgh, secretary-treasurer; A. H. McMillan, R. J. Martin, H. H. Robinson, G. H. Fischer, C. J. Woodworth and G. deCecilia.

Pair of Shears on Man Under Arrest

Found prowling around in the vicinity of Mandana avenue and Lakeside boulevard at an early hour this morning a man giving the name of Arthur Schupp was arrested by Cecil Hitchcock and his son, Stanley, of the Hitchcock patrol and turned over to the police, who are holding him for investigation.

In his possession at the time of arrest was found a small flash-light and a pair of strong shears.

MOTORMAN GIVES OUT THE DETAILS

Didn't Eat a Square Meal in 20 Years Without Suffering Afterwards.

"A medicine that will do what Tanlac did for me ought to be in every home in the land," said J. P. Kennedy, a well-known motorman on the Los Angeles street railway, living at 1016 East 18th street, Los Angeles, recently.

"I had been troubled with my stomach for twenty years," he continued, "and was never able to get any nourishment during that time but what was lost and kept me in misery for hours. I was constipated all the time, and felt tired, run-down and worn-out. I was very nervous and the least thing out of the ordinary would upset me. My sleep was restless, I had no energy and felt so weak and bad that I had to use extra effort to operate my car. I had been under treatment from time to time, but gradually got worse, instead of better.

"Soon after Tanlac was put on sale here last summer and so many people began talking about how it was helping them, I began taking it myself. In a short time I commenced to feel better. My first bottle helped me so much that I bought another and kept on improving. So when I finished my fourth bottle all my bad feelings were gone and I was back to my old self and found I had actually gained ten pounds. And although that was six months ago, I still hold my increase in weight and felt fine to this good day. So I can testify to both the immediate and lasting results of Tanlac. I can now enjoy my three square meals a day, sleep like a log and feel in the pink of condition all the time. Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company stores.—Advertisement.

ADVERTISING EXALTED.

"Advertising is exalted and dignified by its work in the war," says the San Francisco Journal of Commerce. "That advertising did some of the fighting, and that fact is conceded by some of the famous generals of the war, is pointed out by George Etheridge, president of the Sphinx Club of New York. Unlike a sphinx this writer said something when he told the readers of The Analyst of the war achievements of advertising. He said it sold the humanitarian idea of this war to America, provided the money to carry it on, called the men from their firesides and set them marching in khaki. And advertising fed them and clothed them and kept up their morale, carried the very spirit of God in their hearts when they were so far from their homes and their sufferings were so poignant that it seemed as if there were no Divine Spirit in all the troubled universe."

What advertising did in floating liberty loans, campaign for funds for the support of war auxiliaries, in keeping up the spirit of the people at home, in mobilizing energy behind food production, conservation and economy; in putting business and all other phases of human effort behind the war, is more or less familiar to the American people. But advertising played another role which is not so intimately known to the people. In the words of our contemporary:

"It used President Wilson's words as a text and sought converts not alone here, but in Europe. Advertising sold the principles of humanity—justice and democracy—to many nations under the most adverse conditions. It was the greatest advertising campaign the world ever knew and it brought home the bacon."

One of the most spectacular episodes in the American campaign of publicity, and which was in some degree localized, was the offensive against German propaganda in Mexico. During the three years prior to America's entrance into the war the German espionage and propaganda machine made considerable progress in inciting a nasty anti-American sentiment in the southern republic. Early in 1917 there was much open expression of hostility toward the United States and its citizens.

The Zimmerman note to the arch-plotter Von Eckhardt suggesting an alliance between Germany and Mexico on the basis of German aid in the recovery of the "southern provinces"—New Mexico, Arizona and a part of Texas, was significant of the extent to which Germany was responsible. There were many citizens who urged military retaliation against Mexico's flimsy pretense of neutrality. But whatever the merits of a suggestion that this great country go to war with 15,000,000 half-breeds, it was preferable to avoid such an eventuality while we were engaged in Europe.

The Germans acted with open and arrogant boldness. They subsidized Mexican newspapers. They opened with much éclat a wireless station and announced that henceforth the Mexicans would be given uncensored news from Europe. Then they began to feed the Mexicans with fake despatches of German prowess in Europe and with lies against the United States and other Allies. They managed to have the pro-Ally Mexican Herald suppressed and El Universal was closed by a German-led mob. German gold flowed freely and the Hun commander, General Kloss, of the German forces in Mexico paraded his "riding club" in full military trappings, through the capital at frequent intervals.

In the early part of 1918 a publicity office was opened in Mexico City, within a few doors of the German bureau of information, and the sale of America to the Mexicans began. There was a lecture hall where Allied and American news was given by word of mouth; pamphlets were distributed free; film stories were run in eight or ten theatres operated by a patriotic American citizen. Newspapers being denied the privilege of printing pro-Ally news, a poster campaign was launched and in one of the poster bulletins Ambassador Fletcher boldly branded alleged German despatches—wireless, cable and telegraph—for what they were, "fakes."

The result was—and it coincided with the German retreat on the west front—that the German propagandist machine was defeated. Von Eckhardt was driven from Chapultepec castle and from the Carranza breakfast table. The American publicity corps went over the top triumphantly, and when the German liars were exposed and the hope of a German refuge crushed, anti-Americanism dwindled to an inconsiderable portion. At the same time the danger that military force would have been resorted to against the Mexican government quickly passed.

Truly the war demands have exalted advertising and demonstrated its economical selling force. The Mexican instance is an example of its power in saving treasure and life. It is not a far-fetched conclusion that advertising will prevent future wars. Certainly it is possible to employ it to forestall unrighteous wars.

DRIVING FOR AN APPROPRIATION.

It is interesting to observe the methods by which bureaus of the federal government often attempt to expand their activities or preserve their prestige. Indeed in all governments, State and municipal as well as federal.

Here is the example of the United States Employment Bureau. It has asked Congress to appropriate $14,500,000 for its maintenance during the next fiscal year. This is a lot of money and it has been thought necessary to omit nothing to convince Congress that it is absolutely necessary. Therefore officials of the federal employment service in the San Francisco bay district are asking employees of the shipyards to telegraph or write Congress that the service is essential. Men seeking employment at the shipyards through the bureau are asked to sign petitions for the retention of the service and are then sent on to the yards while the signatures are forwarded to Washington.

At Washington the chiefs of the employment service have made a drive on the agricultural appropriation bill and have succeeded in having withdrawn the item for federal aid to the several States in maintaining farm advisors and extending education in agriculture. It is represented that the employment service will answer the purpose, which, of course, is not true.

The federal employment service has been of some usefulness. It is expected that it will meet a somewhat urgent demand in finding jobs for returning soldiers, but this last consideration is about the only thing that would justify its perpetuation after June 30 next. Certainly it may be questioned whether it is necessary to maintain six offices in San Francisco, two and three in other cities, and to pay rent on a superfluity of offices and to support the present array of employees. Some curtailment may be possible.

If the $14,500,000 appropriation goes through, California will have to pay about $600,000 of it in one form or another of taxation. That is a lot of money to be levied on the State for an employment service that is duplicating much work already adequately performed by the State and from State funds.

The employment service is composed of over 5,000 employees. It is a non-civil service bureau and political preference is strongly marked in the selection of its employees. The methods which it has adopted to make Congress look with favor upon its work and the attack engineered upon the farm-aid appropriations should cause Congress to examine the organization very closely.

Ole Hanson is enjoying the sensation that was said to have been experienced by Lord Byron—of having awakened one morning to find himself famous. Every newspaper in the land discusses him, and some of them unqualifiedly propose him for president; while those which illustrate personalities who are in the public eye carry his picture. And yet he did nothing more than that which is expected of every mayor—but which is not always done. Indeed, it is very seldom that a man arises intelligently to the occasion in such an emergency as that which confronted Ole Hanson. He was not seeking acclaim, nor political posing; and if he now gracefully withstands encomiums and fulsome praise that is lavished upon him he will be able to come on and enjoy a measure of higher public favor than could otherwise be appropriately bestowed.

Mexico seeks a seat in the League of Nations. At first thought this is not an impressive idea. Mexico figured during the war as a neutral, but as a matter of fact was pro-German. She is now chaotic, not more than 65 per cent tranquil. Her government is hostile to the United States, though not sufficiently stable to possess a definite policy as to anything. Now if she could have sort of connection with the League of Nations that would give her status perhaps it would be a good thing all around. For as soon as the affairs of the European continent shall have been settled, the United States has got to turn its attention to the affairs of this neighboring country and go through to a finale. The Mexican question will soon be as old as the Cuban question was when we took definite action and brought that to a final settlement.

Those who flippantly speak of "American bolsheviki" either have little faith in their fellow countrymen or little knowledge of history and less skill in employing the English language. The two words cannot be coupled. An American cannot be a bolsheviki; neither can a bolsheviki be an American.

NOTES and COMMENT

It would not appear that violation of the curfew ordinance is sufficiently heinous to justify a police fusillade. Boys who omit to come in when the bell rings do not do so right, but in the absence of more reprehensible delinquencies they do not quite deserve to be shot.

Claim is made that peace news is suppressed by the censors. Considering that there has been all sorts of news on all sides of all the questions that have been considered, the claim may be more or less fanciful.

The fact that Frau Ebert does her own work is an undoubted sign that the democratization of Germany is proceeding. When the wife of the president of a country omits to take advantage of her opportunity like that it must be admitted there is sincerity in an exalted place.

The House passed the bill appropriating $750,000,000 for a revolving fund for the railroad administration with only fifteen dissenting votes. The Senate may not be quite so complaisant, but is likely to coincide. There is really nothing else to do. As long as Uncle Sam remains in the railroad business he must put up.

Douglas Fairbanks was cited as the champion boxer in the last Liberty Loan drive, but he had nowhere near the compelling power of a San Francisco police judge in the police ball drive. Delinquents who found immunity by purchasing tickets to the same on a hunch were legion.

The fact may not have been taken account of that while the armistice required the liberation of ally prisoners, it provided that German prisoners should not be let loose till the allies got ready. They are not ready yet, and have refused to take the matter up with the German armistice commissioner.

The saying about the mills of the gods is exemplified again. Fifty-three years ago Germans, in their characteristic way, took the provinces of Schleswig and Holstein from Denmark. Denmark is demanding them back and is likely to get them. The Kiel canal is in one of these provinces. It is a strategic waterway, dug by Germany, and its control by another country, or even its neutralization, will be a blow to that country.

When it is stated that the number of French houses destroyed by the Huns reaches the appalling total of 450,000, the extent of the war's devastation is realized in part. The allies have agreed that Germany must pay for this to the limit of her capability. This and other facts of the same trend indicate the considerable task there is ahead for the Germans.

Forty years ago Dr. Mary Walker was something of a sensation. At least, wherever she appeared she attracted attention, and when she issued a strange city all its newspapers had a story. Dr. Walker's idea of dress reform for women was to garb them the same as men. Trousers for women, however, have ceased to have novelty, especially since the war justified the gender sex in donning men's apparel to better enable them to do men's work.

The Spanish lung is letting the world into the secret that the neutral role is a difficult one to play. The world is aware of the fact that he didn't play it any too well, though he was not quite satisfied whether that was due to the difficulty of the role or to dissimulation.

Richmond Pearson Hobson will be here tonight. Now don't crush him. It happened twenty years ago. —Hanford Sentinel.

Retail prices at last are beginning to climb down, but most of them still have to be reached by way of a step ladder. —New York World.

RENAISSANCE OF HEBREW ART.
In the Bezael Art and Craft School of Jerusalem was laid the foundation of Jewish art. The old Hebrew alphabet, with its table square form, seemed immediate and like the language itself, for a long time dead in the Bezael school the elements of this square alphabet served as a basis for a new ornamental style in rug weaving and decorations on cases. The old calendar, the Memorial, and the few objects of art that remained from the land times came to assume new significance in the revived national art. A group of young painters attracted by these attempts to create a Jewish school of art in Palestine came from different countries. They brought with them a desire to create. They found in Palestine a treasury of old memories in colors and paint. LEGISLATION TO PROVOKE MANY FIGHTS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASING WIRE TRIBUNE
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 24.—A number of fights which have been brewing since the forty-third biennial session of the California legislature opened here, January 6 last, are expected to develop early in the second half of the session which will be resumed tomorrow after a constitutional recess of one month.

Among bills expected to cause some of the outstanding fights of the session are the efficiency and economy measures providing for readjustment, co-ordination and amalgamation of various administrative offices and commissions of the state; reclamation measures, particularly those pertaining to the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage districts; the anti-injunction bill which incorporates the same provisions of a measure passed two years ago and which was vetoed by Governor William D. Stephens; a bill proposing the transfer of control of the San Francisco waterfront from the state to San Francisco; Sunday closing measures and prohibition bills, including those providing means of enforcing national prohibition and a measure to make prohibition effective in California July 1, next, the same time that nationwide prohibition becomes effective.

EDUCATIONAL BILLS.
A total of 136 bills affecting the educational institutions of the state, both private and public, have been sent to the committees on education in the house for recommendation, and a number of these are expected to cause clashes between lawmakers. These bills include proposals to make the state superintendent of public instruction an appointive officer instead of an elective officer; to extend the compulsory education law to prohibit teaching of German in public schools; to limit the number of pupils in each class room; to extend the scope of physical training; other measures would increase the state and county appropriation for schools.

STATE MARKET REPEAL.
The repeal of the state market act also is sought in an assembly bill, and a senate bill seeks to repeal the present act and to restore the act of 1914, which provided for the appointment of state commission members.

The principal legislation affecting the oil industry of the state was incorporated in measures advocated by the state mining bureau and other bodies interested in the industry. The measure advocated by the state bureau would abolish the district boards of oil and gas commissioners, while the bills favored by the oil interests would strengthen the position of such boards, it was said.

Attacked Fisherman Disarms Assailant

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—When Pasquale Peresone, fisherman, started to shoot Joseph Fusquale, another fisherman, the latter slapped his face and "took his hat away from him," this is the story that Pasquale told Policeman Robert L. Haver, who answered a call with the patrol wagon last night to Sansome and Chestnut streets.

"This fellow is a bun gunman," the surprised officer told the policeman as he handed him Peresone's revolver and held his alleged would-be murderer with the other hand.

Peresone was taken into custody on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

LOSES CONTROL OF AUTO.
Losing control of the automobile he was driving, L. W. Manter of Hayward was pinned under his machine last night on East Fourteenth street and Seventy-fourth avenue. Extricated by the police, he was found to be unharmed. The car was badly damaged.

"IN THE WAKE OF THE WOLF"

Captain Trudgett's
Own Story

CHAPTER 7.

Glasgow Worries Huns.

The Wolf's crew seemed to have a holy horror of the British cruiser Glasgow. The Glasgow had snatched up several raiders and seemed to have unusual success in meeting up with them. She was four hundred and fifty feet long, and she had done the raiders a lot of damage, something like the Sydney sunk the raider Emden off Cocos island. The Wolf picked up a wireless from the Glasgow a couple of times but managed to keep clear of the warship itself.

After we got back from laying mines in the China sea, the Glasgow was empty and the seaplane was put in that hold, until the capture of the Hitachi, when hold No. 3, which had already been prepared for a prison crew, was used to house about 100 of the Japanese crew of the Hitachi.

The seaplane did fine service during the attack on the Glasgow. It did not seem to be much of a use, but it was a small mark, especially on an angle for the reception of a bomb dropped from a seaplane. The plane has to clear the water, and also, I should think, would have to keep out of range. I believe a ship armed with rifles would have a hard time of it in a battle with a seaplane trying to bomb the ship.

The seaplane was worn out when the Wolf finally put the plane away and started for Germany. A new set of plane wings were made out of satin captured on the Hitachi and the seaplane men were constantly working on the machine. It was a piece of machinery that could only be used in good weather when the water was smooth. At the last the observer and his pilot were almost afraid to go up, fearing with bombs. A vessel of fifty-foot beam offers a small mark, especially on an angle for the reception of a bomb dropped from a seaplane. The plane has to clear the water, and also, I should think, would have to keep out of range. I believe a ship armed with rifles would have a hard time of it in a battle with a seaplane trying to bomb the ship.

The Wolf and the Hitachi, the latter in charge of Lieutenant Neger, and a prize crew, steamed away for a rendezvous which proved to be the southern island of the Maldives. The Hitachi's capture was a great success. The prize crew was also taken, including a lot of treasure. Tea was about the only thing the Wolf never seemed to be short of. Even as prisoners in the holds during January 10, the prize crew was taken away for food for the Wolf was getting into dangerous and rougher water.

Owing to the big haul of prisoners from the Hitachi there was more and central talk that the German navy would be able to get a great deal of it. There had been talk of this all along. I believe Neger halfway promised some of the prisoners they should be set ashore at the first good place. A good place, of course, meant some spot where they could not give information regarding the Wolf's work and activities. There were many rumors and reports. Most of the prisoners believed at least a part of these reports.

There was always the possibility of the Wolf being engaged in a fight. If she was captured and it was found that she entered battle with helpless women, children and men prisoners on board it would have certainly been a disaster. The Wolf's command and probably the other officers, Neger likely would not have hesitated to blow up the Wolf rather than surrender if he had opportunity to carry out this plan. I suppose he would have killed himself.

The fact of there being so many prisoners to feed and look after was probably offset by Neger's desire to carry home to Germany a great shipload of victims of the Wolf. I think he planned all along to get the prisoners to Germany if possible, but he was a long way from home the way was fraught with danger, and food and fuel had to be found. Personally I never took much stock in the report we would be set ashore on some island or on the south American coast. I expected rather to go down with the Wolf if she was sunk, or land in Germany.

On November 7 the Hitachi was sunk off the Chagos Islands. Two weeks of the intervening time had been spent at the Maldives islands, the Wolf taking what fuel, supplies and cargo needed. The many of the prisoners from the Hitachi, including the women, children and married men with their wives were transferred from the Wolf back to the Hitachi and the two vessels steamed away from the Maldives. Neger planned to take the fine big Japanese liner was a free steamer and took a lot of fuel. Neger's failure to find more prizes with coal on board caused him to sink the Hitachi. The vessel's rich cargo of

CHAPTER 18.

Wolf Shows Paces Again.

By this time all of our mines had been laid. The band, which all these months had been very good, playing for us on Sundays and holidays, now began to play "We're Going Home," and my men were elated. But even if we were about to go home there seemed no reason why the Wolf should not seize any few choice bits that might come its way. The Wolf and I got Mendi separated after sufficient coal had been taken off the

CAPTAIN NERGER honored for his exploits. Admiral Bachmann of the German navy presenting him with the order "Pour la Merite."

After a prize crew had been sent on board they found her loaded with food, extra and fruit. But unfortunately for us, the craft carried 270 automobiles, all atop of the cannon goods. As we had neither islands nor anchorage to repair to, thereabouts, we were able to take just a few of the things we needed most, and which we could get at. In this manner, we secured quite a store of foodstuffs. Then I sent to the different departments of the Wolf, asking what were their shortages and what they needed most. The most important thing of each list submitted to me was sure to be at the bottom of the pile of automobiles. We were thus able to get just a few of the provisions out of the Wolf, in addition, because of the roughness of the sea. So, after removing the crew, we sank her with the usual bomb, but they sank down to Neptune instead. It was the Aquilas Banks on November 29 that we sank the Kirby.

After returning the Cape of Good Hope we steered a light of dawn toward the northwest, on December 29 meeting our coaling ship, the Igloo Mendi at the eastward of the Trinidad Islands. Here we picked up so good wireless the light of dawn, and at daylight overhauled him. He proved to be the Frenchman, Marchand Davout, loaded with grain from Melbourne for Marseilles.

The vessel carried two one-pound guns, a crew of 30, including six French marines to man the guns, and also a wireless telegraph. The captain was Louis Brent, a captain in the navy reserve. The ship looked particularly fine in the dark, and was with her sails white and whole, and cleaned and painted white in readiness for her home port. We ran up the German war flag and displayed our batteries during the boarding, but no fight or use its wireless. In fact, the captain explained to me afterwards that he did not receive or send wireless the whole voyage, as he had shipped a wireless operator, eighteen years old, who did not know his business.

The stores of the Frenchman were warmly welcomed. There was plenty of coffee, bread and fruit. But unfortunately for us, the provisions did not amount to much as the vessel had been 35 days away from port. We took off the crew and the two guns and bombed her, too, into Neptune's looking glass.

We ran up the German war flag and displayed our batteries during the boarding, but no fight or use its wireless. In fact, the captain explained to me afterwards that he did not receive or send wireless the whole voyage, as he had shipped a wireless operator, eighteen years old, who did not know his business.

The stores of the Frenchman were warmly welcomed. There was plenty of coffee, bread and fruit. But unfortunately for us, the provisions did not amount to much as the vessel had been 35 days away from port. We took off the crew and the two guns and bombed her, too, into Neptune's looking glass.

We then continued our voyage toward the northwest, on December 29 meeting our coaling ship, the Igloo Mendi at the eastward of the Trinidad Islands. Here we picked up so good wireless the light of dawn, and at daylight overhauled him. He proved to be the Frenchman, Marchand Davout, loaded with grain from Melbourne for Marseilles.

CHAPTER 19.

Wolf Shows Paces Again.

By this time all of our mines had been laid. The band, which all these months had been very good, playing for us on Sundays and holidays, now began to play "We're Going Home," and my men were elated. But even if we were about to go home there seemed no reason why the Wolf should not seize any few choice bits that might come its way. The Wolf and I got Mendi separated after sufficient coal had been taken off the

CAPTAIN NERGER honored for his exploits. Admiral Bachmann of the German navy presenting him with the order "Pour la Merite."

After a prize crew had been sent on board they found her loaded with food, extra and fruit. But unfortunately for us, the craft carried 270 automobiles, all atop of the cannon goods. As we had neither islands nor anchorage to repair to, thereabouts, we were able to take just a few of the things we needed most, and which we could get at. In this manner, we secured quite a store of foodstuffs. Then I sent to the different departments of the Wolf, asking what were their shortages and what they needed most. The most important thing of each list submitted to me was sure to be at the bottom of the pile of automobiles. We were thus able to get just a few of the provisions out of the Wolf, in addition, because of the roughness of the sea. So, after removing the crew, we sank her with the usual bomb, but they sank down to Neptune instead. It was the Aquilas Banks on November 29 that we sank the Kirby.

After returning the Cape of Good Hope we steered a light of dawn toward the northwest, on December 29 meeting our coaling ship, the Igloo Mendi at the eastward of the Trinidad Islands. Here we picked up so good wireless the light of dawn, and at daylight overhauled him. He proved to be the Frenchman, Marchand Davout, loaded with grain from Melbourne for Marseilles.

The vessel carried two one-pound guns, a crew of 30, including six French marines to man the guns, and also a wireless telegraph. The captain was Louis Brent, a captain in the navy reserve. The ship looked particularly fine in the dark, and was with her sails white and whole, and cleaned and painted white in readiness for her home port. We ran up the German war flag and displayed our batteries during the boarding, but no fight or use its wireless. 1600 BILLS TO HAVE EAR OF LEGISLATORS

LEASING WIRE TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 24.—Legislative committee chairmen were busy today preparing to take up the consideration of the 1600 bills awaiting recommendation. A well or more will elapse, it was believed, before the legislative machinery will be functioning regularly and business measures in any considerable number will be brought out on committee for action on the floors of the two houses.

Only one bill, a county government measure by Assemblyman Manning, was on the assembly floor for final action today. There was no action on the senate floor.

Two bills may be introduced during the second half of the legislative session, they said. Virtually all important measures, with the exception of the general appropriation bill, were believed to have been placed before the legislature at the first half of the session. A number of important ones, such as the governmental efficiency and economy bills being in blank form.

Several bills before the California legislature seek to prohibit the drawing of the color line. Production or advertisement of any motion picture show, dramatic or historical, which tends to reflect contempt upon any race or cause hatred or prejudice would be forbidden by a bill Senator Anderson introduced by request.

Plan Greater Power For Cities Legislature to Pass on Plans

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASING WIRE TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 24.—Several measures to extend the authority of municipal officials and to permit cities to conduct various business enterprises are before the state legislature.

Cities would be authorized to own and operate hospitals, sanitariums, hotels, theaters and amusements by a bill introduced by Assemblyman Eden.

Senator Romberger has a bill to authorize cities to own and conduct hospitals.

A bill which would empower cities to act immediately in emergencies, such as were created by the recent influenza epidemic, was placed before the legislature by Assemblyman Lyndell. It would permit city boards of trustees or similar bodies on four-fifths vote to make immediately effective any ordinance affecting health, safety or general welfare.

Assemblyman Carter offered a bill to provide for cooperation between incorporated towns and counties whereby maps in state or county highways might be closed.

Senator Shaver has a bill which would permit towns of 100 inhabitants to incorporate.

Among a number of municipal corporation measures offered by Assemblyman Locke is one which would authorize city councils to proceed with construction of subways, or installation, of water systems for domestic or sanitary uses. It provides that on city improvement work the city engineer must provide on demand of the contractor, informal statements approving any part of a contract satisfactorily performed.

Workmen and persons furnishing materials for construction work in cities would be guaranteed payment, under a bill by Senator Evans, by the contractor's surety bond and by a first lien against the assessment for the work.

Assemblyman Manning offered a measure providing the expense of street and other city improvement work shall "become a lien upon the specific private property affected" and in case city officials by negligence or otherwise fail to provide means for collecting the money due the contractor, he shall then have a valid cause of action against the city.

Assemblyman Locke introduced a bill prohibiting a city comptroller from acting in any way in the levying of an assessment for improvement work where his property is affected.

He drove the first British tank across No. Man's Land, he was quoted as the first thing onslaught of poison gas vapors, four times he was sent back from the lines wounded, but he has brought back to Oakland with him a Canadian air pilot as his bride, so Lieutenant Dennis O'Hara is happy.

Lieutenant O'Hara has made his home at 1147 Hopkins street. Five silver and brass medals, his left hand and two silver plates have been granted to his law home as the results of operations performed following his injuries.

Lieutenant O'Hara's home was in New York when he joined the Canadian forces. While in training he met his pretty bride, the daughter of a prominent Vancouver family. When he was invalided home after twenty-two months of fighting he returned to Vancouver and was married.

Because he had not entirely recovered from the effects of the gas he decided to live in Oakland, where the climate was warmer. He is a mechanical engineer by profession and is now employed at the Moore shipyards here.

Mrs. O'Hara refused to leave any more romance. She asked today about her marriage to Lieutenant O'Hara. But she admitted, "every marriage is a romance, I suppose."

Lieutenant O'Hara's leg was shattered while he was carrying his wounded brother to safety. His brother died in his arms. He was later in the Canadian air service. On his breast he wears the Mons Star, the souvenir of his part in battle.

This is exactly what can be done if you wear one pair of glasses for reading and one for distance vision. The newest and improved form of double-vision lenses are known as "Caltex" One-piece Bifocals and are actually ground from one piece of perfect optical glass, combining two pairs of glasses in one. Possibly you could not wear the old style bifocals but you can wear "Caltex"—and they look like regular glasses.

LEGISLATURE DOWN TO HARD GRIND AGAIN

After a recess of thirty days the forty-third session of the California legislature resumed business today at noon. It is not expected that the machinery will be grinding out laws for a few days, as there is only one bill in shape for final passage, one introduced by Assemblyman Manning and favorably reported by the county governments committee before the recess.

According to the gossip, the administration will not introduce anything startlingly revolutionary as the result of the investigations made by the commission for economy and efficiency. It is intimated that the commission, other than a few minor considerations of commissions, has nothing much to propose at this time. Labor leaders are not confident of passage for any of their measures, by reasons of the constitution of the two houses; and so it looks as though the session will be devoid of any great thrills.

There are some 1600 or more bills to be considered, and if they are considered thoroughly within the forty days allowed by the guesswork before closure, it will mean that the principal characteristic of this session will be hard work.

Among the new bills expected to be introduced at this session is one providing for a third bond issue of $20,000,000 for additional highway construction.

It is expected that the session will feel itself called upon to take a fling at international politics, when a resolution endorsing the League of Nations is introduced by a Democrat. The legislature is Republican, and Republican leaders out of the West are assailing the proposed league, and so the orators of the legislature are said to be practicing up for a fling at the biggest thing in the political world.

Nation Saved; Garlic
Crop to Be Large

Were further assurance needed that the country is "saved" and that prosperity is to be distributed with lavish hand, it is contained in the announcement of the possible commission firms that there promises to be a bumper crop of garlic this year. Last year, when the country needed all the "strength" it could command, the garlic crop failed and prices soared until they reached 75 cents a pound.

Garlic is scheduled for a hard "fall" this season, according to dealers, who predict that it probably will be difficult to sell that product for 5 cents a pound. It is said, however, that garlic lovers will have to be patient for about three months, when the harvesting of the new crop will begin. In the meantime Italian restaurant keepers have bought about all of the garlic in sight and are serving same with a view to conserving the supply until next garlic makes its appearance.

Good evening, Sister Girl! How's the weather inside your house? Rose and I are around the edges, or has it the gentle, neutral tones of a tired Diah? I know that kind of a weather—bitter, brittle, I know it well! And take it from me that kind of weather peckholes anything else in the world. It used to be the fashion to grow mold. If all the family didn't join every time you decided to have a weep fest you thought they were brutes. At least I did—when feeling was the best thing I did at one stage of my career.

Lady writers are all like that. Also lady painters, lady lion tainers, lady congress women and plain she ladies, spinach variety. We all do it. There was one bit of poetry that I hated, poison bad at that time and ended with words whenever thwarted in my desire to spread my gown. You know it:

"Laugh, and the word-r-r-id laughs with you.
Weep, and you weep also—one—
(Long pause and sniffles).
For the sad old earth has need of mirth,
It has troubles enough of its own."
(Last line said snappily).

"There," I'd snort, "that just shows what heartless monsters human beings are!"

But did it, sister? Not on your merry grin—it showed nothing of the sort. It showed that in spite of all the fashionable mildew someone was beginning to realize that breeding gloom isn't man's natural job—that joy and health are as much a duty as washing behind the ears and mowing the lawn. It didn't say it very clearly because, after all, mold

And speaking of the cheerful side of life, did you ever realize what a little joyful Jenny our old friend Tapioola is in the kitchen? I never did until lately, but since Bertie Hoover began that Frustrating of his every one of my dearest joys (trading sausages after first saying "Me-drag-how-you-do-take-on-weight-not-that-of-course-you-mind-because-it-does-help-hide-the-years-doesn't-it-darling," that Tapioola is the backbone of life—words to that effect. (Five dollars to coughnuts were made of tapioola). So, altho I had hitherto considered it a substance too submissive, as it were, to regard as an intimate friend, I have on taking a new interest in it—and it's all they say it is. Now here is this soup, for instance.

I think you could call this The Business Woman's Soup. It is for the woman who hasn't time to wash the old-fashioned soup-making but long, sometimes for something beside the canned variety. Here is something very nourishing and very new. Make the base of the soup of water with enough tapioola to give it the desired consistency. If you soak your tapioola in cold water before boiling it will cook clearer. This may be prepared hours ahead of time. Heat and add one bouillon cube for each plate to be served and enough of the canned "Spanish Sauce" (tomatoes and peppers) to give the preferred flavor. It is entirely different from the canned tomato soup and most delicious. It can be made still more nourishing by the addition of the ready-minced dried vegetables which have been sealed heretofore and boiled with the tapioola water.

Then there is this pudding, which is a

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

"Isn't this the most awful taxi?" she said in the next breath, and I smiled to myself in the darkness at the delicious naivete of the little woman. The fact that she believed to be a past mistress of diplomacy in having so quickly changed her words to ones so innocuous.

I was grateful to her, too, for the bit of unconscious humor steadied me, enabled me to toss the conversational ball back to her.

"SHE IS SO ORIGINAL," I agreed, "but we'll be on the avenue soon and then we shall mind it."

I wonder what Mrs. Underwood will have for dinner tonight? babbled Mrs. Underwood, who is always childishly interested in food. "She gives the most wonderful dinners," she turned, her face toward Robert Savarin. "And they are so unlike the usual thing to expect when I go there. She is so original. No one else would dare do the things she does."

There was genuine admiration in the little woman's voice, and I knew that she meant no hint of disparagement of Lillian in her last words. But Robert Savarin evidently remembered Mrs. Underwood's outburst toward Mrs. Underwood at the time the pistol shot crashed through her window and Lillian took charge of things. His voice was less inclusive as he replied, "Probably because no one else could do them so well."

I heard Mrs. Durkee give a little gasp of surprise.

"Oh—oh," she said, prolonging the word, and there was more than surprise in the utterance. I saw that in a flash the little woman had grasped the fact that Robert Savarin was in love with Lillian, and I was already sorry for I knew that she wouldn't look upon the affair with the sympathy I had for Mr. Savarin and Lillian.

SECOND TAXI.

Alfred Durkee came to the rescue of the situation.

"I hope the taxi-bird can get there tonight," he said cordially. I had explained Lillian's absence by repeating verbatim the taxicab message he had sent to me, but I had done it in such a manner that I flattered myself neither of the Durkees suspected anything amiss. I was mistaken, however, that Lillian Savarin understood the situation perfectly.

"I'm sure he'll be there if it be a possible thing," I returned truthfully to the taxicab. I knew that no matter how angry Lillian might be at me he would think twice before spoiling Lillian's dinner by a last minute absence.

"Well, we will find out pretty soon," young Durkee returned, "for here we are."

The taxi drove up in front of the old-fashioned house, two floors of which Lillian had transformed into a most original and wonderfully comfortable home, and we all alighted. The next moment another taxi which had been following us, drove slowly past. From its window, evidently marking the house we were entering, leaned Mrs. Alvin.

Tasks Planned Ahead Save Time

By U. S. Dept. of Agriculture

One thing drilled day after day into the boys who are coming back from camps or overseas is "schedule," a time for everything and each thing done at that time. Housewives need that drill. The argument will come up, "But women's work is never done. It can't be put in the same class with a soldier's life at all."

Women's work is full of many tasks. It is true, but that is just why she should work by a schedule. Do you remember the day when you were a little girl that your mother told you you might go to Mary's to play if you finish washing the dishes by 1:30 and do them well? You finished them at 1:20, while the day before it had taken you much longer, and yet you had washed no more dishes. It was simply because you had an aim in your work and you concentrated on what you were doing. A judicious sprinkling of leisure-hour treats, if you do your work quickly and well, might have the same result now.

WASTED TIME SAVED.

Put more than that, making a plan of work or a schedule causes the "head to save the heels." It always pays and it makes a woman "watch her step" much more closely. It will avoid waste time and such calamities as having the cleaning of the dining room coincide with a meal hour. By its aid housekeeping is put on a business-like basis.

"But what a hopeless task it is to force all the tasks in a day," a disheartening voice says.

If you can't remember all the work you do, watch yourself. See what duties there are that present themselves necessarily and what come from poor planning and mismanagement.

Are you one of those women who get cleaning spasms on days when the leader is low and "just feel like baking" on the days when you don't need any baked products? On still another day do you puzzle as to why you are so tired and then remember that the day before you had felt so energetic that you both washed and ironed, just for the fun of it? If you are guilty then "schedule" is what you need.

MAKING WEEKLY SCHEDULES.

Women's work is scheduled most easily by the week because of the number of weekly tasks. These must be taken into account as well as the daily ones. Some which do not come as often as once a week must be taken care of, too, in the budget of time. Each woman has different things she must attend to, so any schedule or budget of time will have to be worked over or used only as a pattern to be altered where necessary. Every day a housekeeper has these tasks:

1. Preparation of three meals a day.
2. Dish washing.
3. Care of beds.
4. Light cleaning of used parts of the house.

At least once a week she has these tasks:

1. Laundry.
2. Marking.
3. Special cooking.
4. Sewing or repairing.
5. Thorough cleaning of house.
6. Cleaning of windows, silver, or fittings.
7. Cleaning of refrigerator.

If there are children in the family more tasks must be put in each of the lists.

THE DAILY SCHEDULE.

The first made, the next question is how to arrange the day's work. That will depend on the housekeeper herself, but she should have a definite preference and stay by it in order that her work may become efficient.

Such a schedule will make the casual observer appreciate the multitude of tasks that come up in the daily life of a housekeeper. It will increase her own self-respect to see the list of things she is doing each day, but more than that, it will increase her interest in housekeeping. To work by schedule will make her commander of those duties rather than their slave.

SCARS OF GUILT.

I should not like to pass away And stand before my God and say: "I have not killed another's wife. I have not felt a bitter blow. I know not what it is to fail— To stand where doubts and fears assail.

And still be true; I have not kept My vows against great odds, nor wept In sorrows hours. From birth to now

No line of care has seared my brow.

"I know not what it is to fight For any principle of right. I've never stood where death is nigh And in those moments questioned why

The soul I loved must needs depart. For faith I have not searched my heart. And found therein the strength to bear

The ache and languish longing there. I stand before the great white throne Untested and my worth unknown."

When it shall come my time to go I want to stand with them who know Just what it means to live and bear Life's common rounds of grief and care.

I want to say that I have wept And still my faith in God have kept. Stead fast, when storms of doubt began. And tried my best to play the man. When I shall pass beyond the stars My soul may glory in its scars.

THE DAILY SCHEDULE.

The first made, the next question is how to arrange the day's work. That will depend on the housekeeper herself, but she should have a definite preference and stay by it in order that her work may become efficient.

Such a schedule will make the casual observer appreciate the multitude of tasks that come up in the daily life of a housekeeper. It will increase her own self-respect to see the list of things she is doing each day, but more than that, it will increase her interest in housekeeping. To work by schedule will make her commander of those duties rather than their slave.

CARL'S BEDTIME STORY

(By Howard R. Carl.)

"You are going out, I see," spoke Nurse Jane, as she saw Uncle Wiggly Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman, take his tall silk hat off the piano one morning.

"Yes, I am going to try some new ones," said Uncle Wiggly, and began dusting it over his tall, shiny silk hat, but the more he brushed the more the hat seemed to look like this, and I have no time to buy a new one. I know what I'll do!"

"What?" asked Nurse Jane. "What will you do?"

"I'll give my silk hat a shampoo with soap and water, and then I'll wash it with a scrubbing brush, and if you please, Nurse Jane, I'll shampoo it with soap and water, my tall silk hat."

"I hope you don't spoil it," said the nurse.

Nurse Jane brought the bunny rabbit gentleman a basin of warm water, some white soap and a little scrubbing brush.

"You had better put one of my bungalow aprons on in front of you, to keep the soap suds from getting on your vest," said Nurse Jane, for Uncle Wiggly wore a very fancy red vest.

"Thank you," said the bunny rabbit, and he dipped the brush in the soap, rubbed it on the soap and then rubbed the soap on the fluffy black fur of the tall, shiny silk hat. Uncle Wiggly made a lot of lather, almost as much as the barber makes when he shaves the bunny.

"This shampoo will make my silk hat clean and as good as new," said Uncle Wiggly, "and will save me buying a new one. If the war is over we must be careful."

So he scrubbed and polished away, making a great deal of lather, and his hat was just a mass of white foam when, all of a sudden, a voice cried: "That will do. You may stop that soap washing and come with me. I am hungry for soup."

"Who—who are you?" asked Uncle Wiggly, looking over the top of the silk hat he was shampooing. "Who are you?"

"The Pipsweat, of course," was the answer, and out from under the sink, where he had been hiding, came the unpleasant creature. "Soup? I want and soup I must have!" he cried. "So wash my face with your 'new' soap and come with me."

"I am not scrubbing my raw milk," cried brave Uncle Wiggly. "I am shampooing my silk hat and you are just in time to have a shampoo yourself. I'll give you a new, soupy, latherly shampoo. But won't you give me a penny? My hat is finished now, and I can shampoo you, too!"

"Then, with the brush all covered with soap suds and his paws covered, too, Uncle Wiggly put his tall silk hat down on a chair and made a jump for the Pipsweat.

But did the bad creature stay there to be shampooed? Indeed, he did not! Tucking his tail between his legs the unpleasant creature ran out of the hollow stump bungalow as fast as he could run, crying:

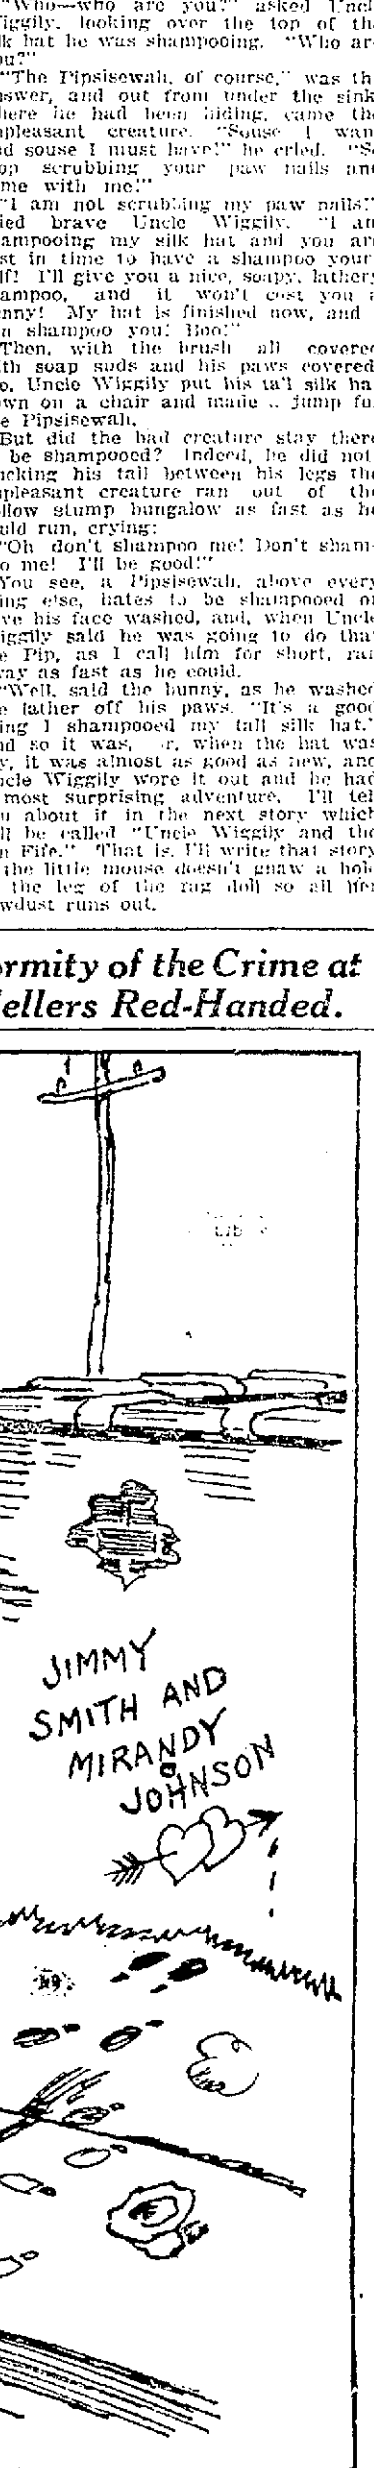

"Oh, don't shampoo me! Don't shampoo me! I'll be rood!"

You see, a Pipsweat, above every thing else, hates to be shampooed or have his face washed, and when Uncle Wiggly said he was going to do that the Pips, as I call him for short, ran away as fast as he could.

"I'll give you a new, soupy, latherly shampoo," said Uncle Wiggly, as he washed the lather off his paws. "It's a good thing I shampooed my tall silk hat."

And so it was, for when the hat was dry, it was almost as good as new, and Uncle Wiggly wore it out and he had a most surprising adventure. I'll tell you about it in the next story which will be called "Uncle Wiggly and the Tin Pipe." That is, I'll write that story if the little mouse doesn't gnaw a hole in the leg of the rag doll so all her sawdust runs out.

BENNY LEONARD AND RITCHIE MEET IN 25-ROUND BOUT

BRISIDE DELIGHTS

The little punchologists who have been entertaining the boxing fans at the auditorium will enjoy another vacation this week. Matchmaker Tommy Simpson has decided that the boys have been working too hard and incidentally nipping him for too many elaborate medals. The following Wednesday Simpson will offer Battling Ortega and Knockout Kruvsky as his main event, and this battle should draw one of the biggest crowds of the season. The San Francisco promoters for a time thought this match was strong enough to compete against the Leonard-Ritchie fight and they came near going through with it on the same night.

Now that Willie Jackson, the Eastern lightweight, is here for a series of battles with the Red Sox, the allied promoters who handle Kruvsky's affairs are willing to let him meet the Battler in Oakland.

Ortega will work out with Sam Langford and Tony Melchior at Wixson's camp, but the Mexican will not need much work. He has been training steadily for two weeks and will be ready to go in for a few days to keep from going stale. Tommy Richards, the little guy who has been working them all, is in town and will be on the card probably with Eddie Mahoney. Richards is a rattling good fighter, and he is willing to make a home for himself here. He will certainly be some considerable drawing card should he meet the little Willie Jackson. Louis Parente is speaking about matching Melchior, the heavyweight, who came over with the Red Sox. Parente is at his opening show March 4. If he does not, Simpson will put the match on here. A special event to the Kruvsky-Ortega bout.

The sudden termination of the Bill Larnue-Jimmy Flynn bout was the principal topic of conversation in the clubhouse and among the fans yesterday, and the consensus of opinion is that Flynn should be given another chance against the local heavyweight. The freeman admits Larnue's punch hurt him, but he claims he misjudged the power. Flynn says that he heard was "right" and that he was hurt, but everyone around the ring heard Referee Toby Irwin count "ten" and "eleven" and Flynn was on his feet. Jack Perkins, former manager of Frankie Burns, has taken an unusual turn and is now willing to water to the dream that the dream will be the winner in a return battle. Larnue's quick knock-out of Flynn was a surprise to the fans and Bill is a real hero today. The big fellow takes his loss gracefully and is quite willing to box Flynn again.

Before the contest Saturday Larnue told some friends in the dressing room that he had an engagement to sing at a San Francisco club the evening after the fight and he hoped that he would not sweat him on the mouth and miss up his vocal organs. Saturday night, however, the bout was so close that Larnue was so tired that he could not sing. Larnue thought it was a good up and acted accordingly.

The following information, clipped from the Vancouver Daily Star, will be of interest to one William Larnue:

Tommy is training himself these days. He expects to go four rounds with Fat Larue, an amateur heavyweight champion, at the Emoryville race track, Oakland, Cal., early in March, and against the same opponent he has these days is running around Stanley park.

He has been coming back to his apartments every morning with water dripping down from him as if he had taken a plunge into English bay with his clothes on. His friends thought he had been out in the rain for a few mornings when the weather was a little damp, but yesterday he walked in, with the sun shining brightly, and he was as much as saying that it was real sweat. Tommy expects to be in the same condition when he goes to Oakland.

The schedule for the season was fixed at yesterday's meeting of the board of directors of the Western League. There will be 140 games. Holiday games have been scheduled as follows:

Opening day—St. Joseph at Oklahoma City, Omaha at Tulsa, Des Moines at St. Paul, Minneapolis at St. Louis, Decatur at Tulsa, May 20—Oklahoma City at Tulsa, Wichita at Joplin, Des Moines at St. Paul, and St. Joseph at Omaha.

July 4—Tulsa at Oklahoma City, Joplin at Wichita, St. Paul at Des Moines, Des Moines at Tulsa, Des Moines at Omaha, and St. Joseph at St. Paul.

Neutrality for the sale of the St. Joseph club are still pending.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Feb. 24.—After having a day in which to recover from the shock of having their team from St. Mary's college beaten Saturday night in Oakland, Californians breathe easier for the victory of the team from St. Mary's college. The team from St. Mary's college has been the favorite to win the championship of the league.

The plan was laid before Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager, by Frank Lawlor, who said he was acting in behalf of prominent Reno business men. Gibson said that if the proper purse were offered and an agreement could be reached concerning Ritchie's ringside weight, he would gladly accept the offer.

The date, July 3, is picked because it is generally believed now that the Nevada legislature has passed a bill permitting 25-round fights, that Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey will meet in Reno July 4.

Gibson, Ritchie and Lawlor will meet here this afternoon and discuss the proposed match at length.

MAJOR LEAGUERS ANNEXED BY SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 24.—Joe Whitt, who with the New York Giants has been the star of the league, has been added today to the roster of the Seattle Coast League baseball club.

Whitt and White are both good players and should have a profitable season. Whitt is a powerful hitter and White is a powerful pitcher.

Seal Manager Would Like to Secure Elliott

Charlie Baum Signs Up With S. F. Club and Will Coach Youngsters

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—A twenty-five-round bout at Reno, Nev., on July 3, between Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard and Willie Ritchie, the former titleholder, loomed up as a strong possibility today. This is a direct outcome of their four-round go of last Friday night, when Ritchie won from Leonard.

The plan was laid before Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager, by Frank Lawlor, who said he was acting in behalf of prominent Reno business men. Gibson said that if the proper purse were offered and an agreement could be reached concerning Ritchie's ringside weight, he would gladly accept the offer.

Seal Manager Would Like to Secure Elliott

Charlie Baum, veteran pitcher, has signed his 1919 contract with the Seals and will be placed in charge of the young pitchers in the training camp. Charlie is the oldest player in point of service and probably also in years in the Pacific Coast League, but he pitched better ball during the past three seasons than at any other time in his career. The Seals will take a raft of young players into camp and a man like Baum can work wonders with the green kids, who are anxious to learn.

Charlie has been fairly well with the "fishers," and if there is any latent talent in the bunch that Manager Graham has signed, Baum will bring it out. Graham is determined to put up a fight for Forest City, the former Boston catcher, who accepted terms from the Seals and then went to the Cubs. ALAMEDA BOY GETS GOOD CONTRACT

ALAMEDA, Feb. 24.—A perfect score, the second 300 made here in the memory of the oldest bowler, was rolled on the San Jose alleys by H. L. Burt, a newcomer here, but a veteran in bowling circles of the northwest. The performance was witnessed by members of four teams which were waiting to go on the alleys for a team contest. A remarkable feature of the game was that Burt used two alleys which he had only tried out a couple of times. W. L. Chaffin rolled 300 April 25, 1913, and Joe Ciacciarulo rolled 297 this year. These are the highest scores ever made in San Jose.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Feb. 24.—After having a day in which to recover from the shock of having their team from St. Mary's college beaten Saturday night in Oakland, Californians breathe easier for the victory of the team from St. Mary's college. The team from St. Mary's college has been the favorite to win the championship of the league.

The plan was laid before Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager, by Frank Lawlor, who said he was acting in behalf of prominent Reno business men. Gibson said that if the proper purse were offered and an agreement could be reached concerning Ritchie's ringside weight, he would gladly accept the offer.

The date, July 3, is picked because it is generally believed now that the Nevada legislature has passed a bill permitting 25-round fights, that Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey will meet in Reno July 4.

Gibson, Ritchie and Lawlor will meet here this afternoon and discuss the proposed match at length.

MAJOR LEAGUERS ANNEXED BY SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 24.—Joe Whitt, who with the New York Giants has been the star of the league, has been added today to the roster of the Seattle Coast League baseball club.

Whitt and White are both good players and should have a profitable season. Whitt is a powerful hitter and White is a powerful pitcher.

ARMY'S VICE
NET IS SPREAD FOR OAKLAND

Oakland and San Francisco today are covered by the net of the new vice squad, which has made its first haul in raids conducted in San Francisco's uptown district early Sunday morning. 15 prisoners were taken.

Policemen, soldiers and plain clothes men to the number of more than 100 took part in the raids, which were directed by Major F. Coor of the army, detailed for this work from Washington.

There was a flutter of excitement, not only in the uptown district, but in the lobby of San Francisco's best hotel when it was whispered that five of the women arrested, who spent the night in jail, were wealthy New York women out on a slumming party. They were released yesterday.

The raids Saturday night is the beginning of a recently announced campaign by the army intelligence department to clean up Oakland and San Francisco. It was reported that a laxity of vigilance on the part of the police had resulted in a new spread of vice.

The war department sent Major Coor here with an appropriation of $10,000 at his disposal and instructions to reorganize a vigorous vice squad. Army men in plain clothes supplied information to the police department to clean up Oakland and San Francisco. It was reported that a laxity of vigilance on the part of the police had resulted in a new spread of vice.

The raids made yesterday of the resort known as "The Bucket of Blood" on Mason street and both the Lason and the Gibson hotels at Ellis and Mason streets.

At the first place 76 prisoners were taken. Among them was a school girl of 11, found in one of the upper rooms filled with liquor.

The five women of the purported slumming party were released late yesterday by an order of Police Judge Oppenheim. It was whispered that there was wire-pulling before this was accomplished.

STRUCK BY AUTO.
Wallie Olney of North county is recovering from bruises and other injuries, the result of being run down by an auto driven by Harry Tere, employee of the Way-Tex Company, at Nineteenth street and Telegraph avenue. Olney says the accident was unavoidable. Olney was taken to the Emergency hospital to be treated.

Great Western Submits Its Plans
$6,000,000 Expenditure Proposed

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—The financial plans under which the Great Western Power Company intends to develop its resources through the expenditure of $6,000,000 was submitted to the State Railroad Commission today in a petition asking for authority which is required to bring about the consummation of the big project.

Accompanying the petition is a copy of the agreement between the power company, L. H. Rollins & Son, Bonbright & Co. and Lee H. Harrison & Co., which takes care of the financial details of the development plan.

This provides for the organization of a new company to be known as the Great Western Power Company of California, which will take over the hydroelectric rights and the transmission lines of the Great Western Power Company, the City Electric Company of San Francisco and the Consolidated Electric Company. The new company plans to execute a first paid-up mortgage to secure an issue of $10,000,000 of bonds, or an unlimited issue as may be determined. The immediate issue is to be for $6,000,000 of Series A bonds, dated March 1, 1919, due March 1, 1925, with interest at 6 per cent. The bonds are to be sold at $85 and $1,500,000 of the total of $22,500,000 is to be advanced to the Great Western Power Company to be expended in carrying out development.

The plan provides for the construction of a new transmission line to connect the power plant with the city of San Francisco. The line will be 10 miles long and will have a capacity of 100,000 kilowatts. The cost of the line is estimated at $1,000,000. The plan also provides for the construction of a new power plant at the site of the old power plant. The new plant will have a capacity of 100,000 kilowatts and will cost $5,000,000. POISON DRINK
KILLS GIRL,
SHIP DOCTOR

Miss Nellie Isbister, for two years a dental student at Berkeley, died on January 3 on the high seas under mysterious circumstances just after she and the ship's surgeon had partaken of a drink of lemonade served at the ship's band by the ship's surgeon, Dr. John Grimm, fell dead with her.

An analysis of the drink partaken of by Miss Isbister and her companion showed that it contained cyanide of potassium. According to the report, she and Dr. Grimm had just finished a game of quarts. Dr. Grimm suggested a drink. The drink, a lemon "squash," was ordered at the ship's bar.

Dr. Grimm was one of the best known of ship's surgeons out of the Golden Gate. He had served on the "China," the "Mariposa" and T. K. K. steamships. His home was at Sausalito. His brother, Howard T. Grimm, is in the U. S. customs service and lives in Sausalito.

Miss Isbister and Dr. Grimm were buried at sea together the following day, following a Church of England service at the ship's altar. Captain A. E. Barlow of the "Miana."

An analysis of the lemon drink served the couple by Second Steward, Vincent Belshaw on the arrival of the vessel at Wellington, New Zealand, revealed the presence of the cyanide and Belshaw, who was under suspicion, was exonerated by a coroner's jury there. An investigation, however, is being continued into the manufacture of the drink at the plant of Thompson, Lewis & Co. at Wellington and Napier.

According to the statement made by Steward Belshaw and Captain Barlow on the arrival of the "Miana" on its return trip at pier 23 this morning, Surgeon Grimm and Miss Isbister had been playing shuffleboard on the deck January 3, when six glasses of lemonade were served. Dr. Grimm was asked by Dr. Grimm to serve lemon squashes, which is composed of lemon soda, lemon juice and sugar. They were served and taken a draught of it Dr. Grimm said.

FALLS UNCONSCIOUS.

"There is something wrong with the soda," and staggered into his stateroom, where he fell unconscious. He did not rise for an hour later. Miss Isbister rose to his feet, after drinking the squash, and fell unconscious and died before she could be helped. The young lady had an uncle in Wellington, formerly a resident of Berkeley whose name is unknown, whom she was going to join at the end of her trip on the "Miana."

Arrest May Clear Up
Burglary Epidemic

Two "blunders" were found in the possession of J. H. Shaw, who was arrested early Sunday morning, when George Magersaet, 1818 and West streets, reported to the police that the man was trying to break into his house. The arrest was the result of a series of burglaries in Oakland, according to the police. In several recent burglaries, the local detectives, double sets of "Jimmy" marks have been found. These, they say, correspond with the size of the two prying instruments found in Shaw's possession. Shaw, when arrested, was unable to explain his possession of the tools. He is being held at the city prison pending further investigation.

Auto and Train in
Crash; One Injured

Joseph A. Romero, 1555 Eighteenth street, suffered a fractured nose and other injuries when the machine he was driving collided with a car Route train at Twenty-second and Grove streets early this morning.

Miss Lella Buchanan, 922 Delaware street, Berkeley, and O. A. and F. A. Somme, soldiers stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco, who were passengers, were uninjured. Romero was taken to the Emergency hospital.

Snow On Diablo,
But Spring Poet
Is Not Chilled

Old King Winter sat upon Mount Diablo this morning and laughed. He covered the daffodils and violets with a glistening blanket of snow and shook his defiance at young Spring and all its satellites. When the world awoke it was in vivid sunshine, touching into millions of sparkles the rounded dome of the snow clad mountain which could be seen for miles in the unique dress. Up and down the valleys the orchards like puffs of pink and white, rivalled the vanishing purity of the mountain top. Grass in spring verdure emphasized that the seasons had changed. Yet there was snow on Diablo.

Californians scrambled up the mountain to gather the snow balls while they might. The camera brigade made an assault on the range. Spring has come, but King Winter is frolicking and flirting and playing pranks.

DRIVE FOR LABOR
TEMPLE IS BEGUN

The drive for the new Oakland Labor Temple is in full swing. All of this week leaders of union labor, teams of workers and more than 100 women will obtain subscriptions for the Labor Temple fund. Everybody will be asked to do his part to make this splendid home of united labor a reality.

It is planned not only to obtain subscriptions but to show the need to the people of Oakland generally of this building. A statement issued today by George C. Davis, manager of the Labor Temple Association, gives some of the reasons why the temple will be of great civic value. Davis said:

"It is to the interest of the business and professional men, as well as the union labor men, that this temple be built. At this time we wish to say that the Oakland Labor Temple is practically assured, as a large amount of the stock necessary has been subscribed by the business men of Oakland. The business men of Oakland are vitally concerned in keeping the laboring class contented and they all know what a stable labor market means. A central labor headquarters, devoted to the business and recreation of the laboring men, will help to do this."

P. G. & E. Employees'
Association Meeting

The Pacific Service Employees' Association will hold its next regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, at 8:30 P. M., 1449 Harrison street. This organization is made up of the employees of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, now numbering over 5000.

The program for the evening will include a vocal concert by the Pacific Service Chorus of fifty voices, and Fred Emerson Brooks, the California poet, his own mirth producers. There will be a fifteen minute technical paper on some electrical subject, concluding with dancing.

Hospitality Costs
Seaman $100 Extra

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Gus Larson, a seaman, arrived from the dry city of Seattle last night with a huge roll of currency and a thirst. While making a tour of the saloons on the Embarcadero he entered the saloon of Polard & Riddle, 29 E street, shortly before 2 o'clock this morning. Offering to buy a drink for the house, which included James Polard behind the bar and three policemen from the Harbor Station, Larson placed his roll in hospitable fashion on the bar. Somebody knocked it off. Now Detectives Murphy and Conlon are searching for a $100 bill which Larson failed to recover. He is living at the Golden Gate hotel on Powell street.

LABOR'S EYES
ON PORTLAND
CONFERENCE

Interest in local labor circles is centered in the conference of the Pacific Coast Metal Trades District Council, which opened the second week of its session today in Portland. Particular interest attaches to the possible tenor of the report on the strike vote, said to have been taken Saturday and which is scheduled for announcement either today or tomorrow.

Conflicting reports, emanating from the conferees themselves are causing much conjecture as to whether a strike vote has or has not been taken, and if it has whether it is or is not favorable to a strike on April 1.

A report said to have been issued by the official press committee of the Metal Trades Council states that the delegates have voted to pass along the matter of a strike on the date mentioned to a referendum vote by the various Pacific coast metal trades unions represented in the council. Another report from Portland states that no strike vote has been taken by the Metal Trades Council, but that such a vote is scheduled for today or tomorrow.

LITTLE EFFECT HERE.
Whatever the recommendations of the council in regard to a referendum vote on the proposition of a coast-wide strike in protest of the Macy award wage and working-hour scale, and referring back to the various locals for action on ending or continuance of prevailing strikes, the effect locally will be comparatively negligible, according to Eastbay labor leaders. These men say that Eastbay shipworkers are "fed up" on strikes and are disinclined to take further drastic action during the pendency of the Macy award, which expires March 31.

PLANTS ARE WORKING.
In face of the conflicting strike and non-strike rumors and alleged efforts on the part of the so-called radical element of the local boiler-makers' union to pull the men off the job this morning, Eastbay shipbuilding plants are today working practically full-handed. Reports from shipyard managements indicate that the number of men reporting for work this morning was practically up to the normal average.

Knife, Poker Figure
in This Family Jar

Mrs. Margaret Marlow, 1403 Pine street, is recovering from a cut wrist and general shock, following first aid treatment at the Receiving hospital, and Bert Marlow, her husband, is recovering from the shock of seeing prison bars, as the result of a family jar at the Marlow home that ended by Mrs. Marlow chasing him with a poker, according to the police, when he is alleged to have drawn a knife. Mrs. Marlow was taken to the Emergency hospital, Marlow to the Central police station. Mrs. Marlow refused to make a complaint, the couple "made up" their differences, and both left for home. The poker was lost in the confusion.

Total Tonnage of American Ships Is
Nearing 19,000,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Discussing the American merchant marine problem in the Senate today, Senator Randsdell of Louisiana predicted that within a few months the shipping board would own one-half the ocean going merchant vessels in the United States of over 500 gross tons, and that by 1920 ship construction in this country would have increased the total tonnage under the American flag to approximately 19,000,000 tons.

Of the predicted 19,000,000 the Louisiana senator estimated 14,525,500 tons would be owned by the shipping board. As the authority of the board to operate vessels expires by limitation six months after the formal proclamation of peace, he said, it is essential that legislation be provided whereby the operation may be continued.

Three Holdup Men
Get $369 in Park

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Three men beat him and robbed him after chasing him into Golden Gate Park, according to Edward Richer, 233 seventh street, in a report to the police. Richer told the police that he had attended the Policemen's Ball at the Auditorium and had gone with the three men in a jitney to a saloon at Stanyan and Haight streets. When the men attempted to take his money at this corner he ran into the park. The men caught him and beat him, then took his money. Richer claims to have had $251.

BURGULAR PLAYS BELLIOP.
CHICAGO.—"Did you ring for a boy?" asked the burglar, surprised in Marie Henkel's hotel room. "No, but I will," she retorted. Now he's waiting for the court to yell "Front!" $500. At the police station he had only $251.

White, who is also under arrest, lived in lavishly furnished apartments on Kirkham street. He says that the Hilda girl was active in the machinations of the ring.

OPIATE RING
RAID CAUSES
CAFÉ BATTLE

Further details of the ramifications of the supposed "opiate ring" which inspectors of the State Board of Pharmacy say, had revolved for months about pretty Billie Hilda, former café entertainer, whom the inspectors term the "opium queen," are being uncovered today by officials, following the girl's arrest. The girl was taken into custody yesterday after a pitched battle between her friends and inspectors operating under the direction of Dr. H. B. Meader of the state board, the arrest taking place in a café at Tenth street and Broadway.

The girl says that she was a victim rather than the head of the opium operations; that she had been plied with an opiate while a café entertainer, and she accuses William White, 315 Kirkham street, Oakland, of being the main responsible for her predicament.

In the girl's possession when arrested was found $2000 worth of narcotics, which the state officials confiscated. Cocaine and morphine, which the state detectives say was smuggled from Mexico, were found in her rooms.

Wonderful Recitals in Your Own Home With the Marvelous Duo-Art

Think of inserting a record roll into your Piano and then listening while it plays the immortal works of Chopin, Liszt, Beethoven—exactly as the master pianists play them. The following great pianists will thus play for you in your own home:

Clarence Adler	Arthur Friedheim	Ethel Leginska
Adriano Ariani	Rudolph Ganz	Tina Lerner
Harold Bauer	Aurelio Giodini	Guionair Novacs
Carolyn Beebe	Leopold Godowsky	Ignace Jan Paderewski
Ferruccio Busoni	Catherine Goodson	John P. Cell
Winifred Byrd	Percy Grainger	Rosita Renard
Charles Wakefield Cadman	Enrique Granados	Beryl Rubenstein
Teresa Carreno	Mark Hambourg	Camille Saint-Saens
George Copeland	Josef Hofmann	Naxos Scharwenka
Alfred Cortot	Ernest Hutcheson	Ernest Schelling
Walter Damrosch	Albert Jonas	Arthur Shattuck
Carl Friedberg	Alexander Lambert	Mania Zucca

The Duo-Art is the Piano which created a sensation at the concerts of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra Friday, January 31, and Sunday, February 2, when it took Harold Bauer's place as soloist, playing his interpretation of the Saint-Saens Concerto in G Minor. The Duo-Art is also a Player Piano which you can play (without pedaling—it is operated electrically according to your own ideas of expression. Then again, the Duo-Art may be played by hand from the keyboard in the usual manner. It is the piano for the home—it may be had in the Steinway, Weber, Steck and Stroud models, both in uprights and grands (in the Stroud, upright only). We are sole representatives for the Duo-Art Piano in our territory on the Pacific Coast—we cordially invite you to come in and hear the marvelous Duo-Art.

DON'T CHANGE YOUR HUSBAND

Cecil De Mille PUTS MATRIMONY ON PARADE

Of special interest to all who are married, who have been, who are going to be, or who never intend to be is the sensational film play, "Don't Change Your Husband," at the Kinema next week.

Cecil De Mille has answered the appeal of the thousands of women who demanded a chance to get a whack at hubby by producing this companion play to "Old Wives for New."

Don't let him plead business, headache, big deal-on-tomorrow-darling or any of the old ones, don't miss the chance to laugh last.

Which is worse, a faded kimono or a rumpled shirt and bedraggled coat? In "Old Wives for New" you saw the untidy wife, next week at the Kinema you'll see the shabby, neglected husband. Watch Cecil De Mille pillory him.

He's a matrimonial bankrupt. The man who "trimmed the matriket" wouldn't trim his heard—it cost him his wife.

Gloria Swanson is radiant as the heroine while Elliott Dexter's characterization of the husband will make you gasp. Fred Roberts is a bullseye as the bishop.

WIVES HAVE CHANCE TO LAUGH LAST NOW

Just like Nat Goodwin, the woman at the Kinema next week changed her matrimonial ties, and changed 'em again and again.

Her first husband was a frowzy affair, but oh, what a money maker. Her second was a King of Dreams, but he dalled with the high-heeled silken beauties of the demi-monde. Her third trial—that's the funny part of it because the much wedded lady now advises, "Don't Change Your Husband."

Cecil De Mille has put married life in a show window. The spon-dor of the gowns makes it a veritable Fifth Avenue shop.
